BRIBERY TRIAL SETS COURT RECORD

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sommers trial, in its 31st day today, has eclipsed by eight days the modern assize court record of 23 days for a jury trial recorded in a gas combines case two years ago.

Legal Question Raised On B.C. Ferry Action

Premier Bennett was today accused of "forcing" two unions to co-operate in the provincial government move Tuesday to take over Black Ball Ferries.

The charge was made by an official of one of the unions—the Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild—who asked anonymity pending an official statement Thursday.

He claimed the premier "secured" the two unions' agreement to his take-over move by "a lot of verbal skulduggery and artifice."

"We were forced into the position of signing the premier's blank cheque," the union spokesman told The Times. "We were not at all happy about it. There has been a lot of misunderstanding about that so-called co-operation."

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

The official said the unions were questioning the legality of the Bennett move to keep the ferries running. He added that all shipping is covered by the Canada Shipping Act, which takes precedence, he said, over the provincial Civil Defence Act under which Premier Bennett decided to run the ferry service.

Marine Engineers business agent E. F. MacLeod said a reply from a firm of Vancouver lawyers on the legality question was expected Thursday noon.

"The B.C. government appears to have gone beyond its authority," Mr. MacLeod said. "It is intruding on a federal matter. What we shall do about this matter will be predicated on the lawyers' report Thursday."

An engineer official said, "As far as we are concerned, this government flat has stripped us of our democratic right to withhold our skills and labor."

'PRESS-GANG' DAYS

"This is the more remarkable in view of the fact that we never before exercised our right to strike in B.C." Keeping men on ships against their will attacks of the early 19th century press-gang."

Black Ball president Col.

George Paulin said today he "understood" both officer unions as well as the Seafarers' International Union agreed to co-operate with Premier Bennett.

"I wasn't present when representatives of the officer unions were meeting with Mr. Bennett," Col. Paulin added, "but I was informed they had agreed to operate the ships under governmental control."

The Black Ball president said the premier's act "cannot be questioned."

A private shipping concern—other than Canadian Pacific—is dickering with the federal government to operate a fast ferry service between Sidney and the lower mainland, it was indicated Tuesday night.

Victoria MP A. DeB. McPhillips told the annual meeting of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Constituency Association:

"If private enterprise is to take it on, it wants the government to build terminals."

"If the government is to build terminals, it wants assurance the private enterprise will operate the ferry."

"There is a seesaw going on," said Mr. McPhillips.

After the meeting, Mr. McPhillips was asked to confirm a report the "private enterprise" is a proposed new shipping firm, rather than the CPR.

"I'm not going to name names," he said. "But there is an extreme likelihood that an entirely different entity might be interested in it."

His remarks strengthened recent reports a new passenger service is being studied by a group of Victoria investors.

Pipeline Pondered

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today consideration is being given by federal experts to a possible oil pipeline to Montreal.

Fire Threatened Town

STRATHMORE, Alta. (CP) — Fire which raged through a lumber yard and threatened this southern Alberta town's business section for nearly three hours was extinguished early today. No damage estimate was available in detail but firemen said it would likely be more than $50,000.

Britain Backs UN

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain today pledged full support of United Nations efforts in Lebanon as "the only effective way" to obtain peace there.

fence Act are very definite," he said. "As far as I understand the terms, the act supercedes all others, even federal ones."

Col. Paulin said Black Ball definitely did not intend to question the legality of the Bennett move.

Victoria Labor Council president Robert Barrie said he could see no objections to the provincial government taking over Black Ball "provided the SIU was in complete agreement with the decision."

Meanwhile rumors that the federal government may order compulsory arbitration in the CPR walkout were discounted this morning by federal labor officials in the absence of the minister, Michael Starr.

Premier Bennett Tuesday called on Ottawa to follow the lead of the B.C. government in the Black Ball dispute.

Ottawa authorities doubted that the federal government would take such a step while Mr. Starr is out of the country. He is expected back in Canada Tuesday.

One official pointed out that the federal government has already "intervened" by appointing Eric Taylor as an industrial inquiries commissioner to mediate the dispute.

Indications are that he has reported there remains an opportunity to mediate the dispute successfully. The Conservative government is reported to have stated it will order compulsory arbitration only as a last resort.

Mr. Taylor said this morning he plans to meet with the SIU, engineers and merchant service-men later today, with CPR officials.

Fire at Jubilee Does Little Harm

City firemen rushed major equipment to Jubilee Hospital at 12:46 p.m. today when fire broke out in the fourth floor south utility room.

The blaze was short-lived and caused negligible damage, a member of the hospital staff said.

Thet trial has certainly bin a trial t' ever'body.

Hope th' UN kin provide some Leban-aid t' cool things down in th' Middle East.

RUSS THREATEN BOYCOTT OF GENEVA ATOM PARLEY

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia tonight threatened to boycott a Geneva conference of East-West atomic experts next Tuesday unless it receives new assurances from the United States.

A government statement, broadcast by Moscow Radio, said the Soviet Union would not send representatives to a conference if it served as "an act of deception" to the world.

The statement said: "The Soviet government should like to receive from the U.S. government a confirmation of the fact that the purpose of the meeting remains that which was defined in the correspondence between the Soviet government and the U.S. government."

'Send Troops' Lebanese Plea

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy firing broke out in Lebanon late today shortly after the government announced it had asked for an armed United Nations emergency force to seal off the frontier.

President Camille Chamoun said he expected a big rebel push against his government at any hour, but it was too soon to say whether this was it. He also said Lebanese forces had been shelled from Syria.

The heaviest firing was heard in Ghandak Ghamik, on the outskirts of the Basta section of Beirut where rebel forces under former premier Saeb Salam are entrenched in a series of barricades.

Shooting broke out in the post office area at about the same time and firing erupted and bombs were exploded in Ashrafiah, the Christian quarter in the eastern part of the capital.

CALM BROKEN

Machine-guns, mortar fire, dynamite bombs and small arms fire could be heard as the rebels and security forces exchanged fire.

The fighting broke a long day of unusual calm in Beirut.

The rebels had called a truce during the visit of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld here to try to bring peace to the troubled Middle East nation. The shooting broke out shortly after he left by plane for New York.

Even as firing broke out rebel leader Salam told reporters that the rebels would resist any increase in UN forces in Lebanon. "If the number of United Nations forces should be increased we will consider this an international intervention and aggression, and we will resist it as we would any aggression," Salam said.

Salam was commenting on a statement by Premier Sami Salh that he had asked Hammarskjöld for a UN force "to seal off completely Lebanon's frontiers" with the Syrian province of President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

President Camille Chamoun told a press conference the shelling from Syrian soil took place.

Legal Offensive Started by Bull

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial entered a crucial stage today with the defence opening a legal offensive for dismissal of the remaining charges against former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers and seven other accused.

Counsel Alfred Bull led off for a battery of six defence lawyers with a motion opposing the transfer of the charges from the new Criminal Code of Canada to the old code.

He submitted that prosecutor Victor Dryer, in doing this Tuesday, had not stayed within the power granted in the code.

Mr. Bull said he would follow this argument with a motion to quash the charges and that when the Crown's case was closed he would move for the dismissal of the charges against his client — Charles D. Schultz and the C. D. Schultz Company — for lack of evidence.

Two-Year Bribe Limitation Claimed

Mr. Bull was followed by Sommers' counsel, Angelo Branca, who argued that the bribery counts remaining against the minister could not hold up because of a lapse of more than two years from the time of the alleged offences until the charges were laid.

He cited the old Criminal Code which carries the two-year limitation.

Mr. Branca argued that it was no offence to give except in the case of an official or an employee of the government, and he submitted that Mr. Sommers was neither.

There followed a discussion on an interpretation of the section and Mr. Justice Wilson said he could not agree with Mr. Branca's view.

Mr. Bull, in his submission, said that in the case of his client the Crown would have to prove direct payments between Schultz and Sommers, and he submitted that with respect to Mr. Schultz and his company there were no direct payments to the former minister.

J. R. Nicholson, counsel for H. W. Gray and the Pacific and Evergreen companies, submitted that even under the amendment shifting the charges to the old code they were still laid under the wrong section.

This view was rejected by his lordship.

Action Follows New Indictment

In a quick sequence of events Tuesday, the Crown agreed with the judge's finding that all charges should be under the old Criminal Code rather than the new code which became effective in 1955.

Prosecutor Dryer then presented a new indictment making this transfer to section 138 of the old code and scaling down the total number of charges from 38 to 25. The new indictment includes only one instead of two counts of conspiracy and 24 instead of 36 counts of bribery.

The prosecution action came after Mr. Justice Wilson decided that the old code alone could not be effective because the alleged acts of the accused were all committed prior to April 1955 when the new code came into effect.

The judge said that no man could be held guilty for an act committed prior to that act becoming punishable under the law.

Charged along with Sommers are H. W. Gray, John Gray,

Charles D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services Limited, Evergreen Lumber Sales and

THREE PULLS ON FLUSH CHAIN FOR YOUNGSTERS' 'BRAIN-WASH'

HOVE, Eng. (Reuters) — A new version of "brain-washing" was reported in juvenile court today.

Two boys, aged 10 and 11, were charged with forcing the head of a six-year-old boy into a toilet and pulling the flush chain three times.

Their lawyer said this was the boys' version of "brain-washing"—normally a psychological method used to get confessions—which they had read about in a book.

The youngsters were sent to a juvenile care home for mental examinations.

B.C. Newspapers Mark 100th Birthday

Today marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of newspapers in British Columbia.

Volume 1, number 1, of the Victoria Gazette hit the streets of old Victoria on June 25, 1858. Publication continued on a twice-weekly basis until Nov. 24, 1859 when the paper folded.

By that time two other papers had taken up the task of informing the public, a task that grew until today 85 newspapers are serving B.C. Combined readership of the newspapers is well over 700,000.

The Gazette was published by J. W. Towne and Co., and edited by H. C. Williston and C. Bartlett. A frail, four-page sheet, it sold for 25 cents a copy.

The Victoria Gazette is

for sale at the Old Salmon House, by Messrs. Riley and Wells, as well as at the public office within the old fort (Victoria) grounds," the masthead stated. It added, future publication would be on Wednesday and Saturday mornings, "Advertisements must invariably be paid for in advance," and an agency would be maintained at San Francisco.

Reading the Gazette took patience and initiative. Where the modern press makes it easy for a reader with large headlines, short paragraphs, interspersed pictures and sub-heads, the Gazette appeared as almost a solid block of fine type.

The front page was given over to a poem, essays on Kaffir women and the Vatican and a delayed report from France that balloonist Gavarin was ready to start a flight to America.

The paper rightly forecast, "The people of the 19th century will not probably have the pleasure of recording the event."

Reflecting the delays involved in the passage of news in wind-jammers around the Horn, was the item which stated two members of the Nova Scotia government went to England seeking aid of the Imperial government in building a railway and effecting a union of Canada and the "Lower Provinces." But it happened "last fall."

There was a note on an envisaged telegraph from Russia to the United States.

Another unobtrusive yarn told of the finding of bodies of miners on San Juan Islands. They had been slaughtered by Indians. There is brief mention of 130 Cog-hole Indians attacking another party of miners near Port Townsend.

Today, events of this nature would set teletypes to clacking around the world. Pictures of the disasters would be wirephotoed within minutes to all over the world.

Big Gap to Fill In Trans-Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The Trans-Canada Highway project, begun in 1950, now has paved highway along 3,036 miles of its 4,327-mile route.

But only 1,707 miles of that road has been paved since the project began. The rest is provincial highway built previously.

A progress report on the highway was tabled Tuesday in the Commons by Works Minister Green at the request of CCF house leader Hazen Argue.

It said that up to May 31, a total of $157,494,000 in federal payments went to the nine provinces—all but Quebec—which have joined in the project. Another $53,081,000 in federal funds had been committed for work under way.

Saskatchewan, with 406 miles, is the only province to have completed its section of the road. However, Prince Edward Island has completed all but one of its 71 miles. Alberta, with a 282-mile route, has paved 214 miles and graded another 61

$225,000 Damages For Loss of Eye

OTTAWA (AP) — Damages of $225,000 for a man who lost an eye in an industrial accident have been awarded by a United States district court jury. The award, largest ever returned in federal court here, went to Robert Hogue, 38, who lost the sight of his right eye when a piece of flying metal struck him in an explosion at the plant where he was employed.

Pair of Freak Accidents Take Lives of Two Tots

GRAND VALLEY, Ont. (CP) — Sharon Lee Hillis, four, bled to death Tuesday after falling across an egg basket which cut her throat. She was knocked over by a toppling bag of grain in her father's barn. Police said she was playing in a grain storage room while her father gathered eggs.

WILLISTON PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Two-year-old Michael Hatem was teetering back and forth on his rocking horse in the family living room Tuesday. Suddenly, he fell off and landed on a curtain rod, lying curved end up on the floor. The rod pierced his eye and brain. He died a few hours later.

Sommers Case Charges Ranged From 1 to 38

VANCOUVER (CP) — The number of charges levelled against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers and other accused in the now celebrated bribery conspiracy case have ranged all the way from one to a total of 38 since the first indictment was prepared in November last year.

Most of the new indictments boosting the number of charges have been due to defence demands for "particulars" of the counts which led the prosecution to "split up" the charges, they already had laid.

Now the number of counts have been reduced to 25, including one conspiracy charge and 24 of bribery.

The latest change was forced on Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer in the 30th day of the Assize Court trial Tuesday when Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ruled that the old Criminal Code was the effective law and not the new code under which the charges were laid. The new code became effective in April, 1955, but all of the counts against the accused were alleged to have occurred before that date.

FROM 38 TO 25
As a result the prosecutor entered a new indictment reducing the number of counts to 25 from 38. Tossed out were 13 charges involving Sommers as a minister of the government.

Legal authorities said this was necessary since the old code makes no provision for the charging of a minister as such but under it an "official of the government" is liable for a conspiracy-bribery offence.

Originally in November last year one conspiracy count was laid. Then in January of this year this was increased to six and later was consolidated into five counts.

Then in reply to defence requests for particulars the Crown split its case into 17 charges and when still more particulars were requested split it again into 38 counts—including two of conspiracy and 36 of bribery.

All the accused have pleaded not guilty to the indictment which basically charges a split of moneys between Sommers, H. W. Bray and Schultz in connection with issuance of government timber licences.

WYTON, Eng. (AP) — Prince Philip piloted a jet bomber at 650 miles an hour Tuesday. He was in the co-pilot's seat of the Vulcan H bomber and took over the controls several times as the plane streaked across the English countryside at an altitude of 40,000 feet.

CRACKS UP ON GROUND WHEN LIMOUSINE HITS TAXI

LONDON (UPI) — The Duke of Edinburgh's automobile collided with a taxi today as he was on his way from Buckingham Palace to attend a meeting of the Automobile Association, of which he is honorary president.

Nobody was injured. The chauffeur-driven royal limousine and the taxi collided seconds after the duke, accompanied by a palace official and a detective, left the palace. Both vehicles were slightly damaged.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

LONDON — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's duck family has walked out on him.

Macmillan became a duck raiser accidentally at his official residence, No. 10 Downing Street, when a pair of mallards settled there two months ago.

In time there were 12 eggs and then 12 ducklings. Then father duck and one of the ducklings disappeared.

Tuesday the mother rounded-up her 11 charges and set out through the traffic for a pond in St. James Park about 100 yards away from No. 10.

Police stopped the traffic and with servants from the Macmillan residence following, the ducks waddled to the pond, plopped in and swam away in single file.

TAVARES, Fla. (UPI) — Officers said when they raided the home of Nathaniel Lee, the bootlegging suspect rushed to a knothole in the floor and poured out the contents of a jug.

But Deputy James L. Yates had been warned of Lee's tactics. Instead of joining the raiders, he had sneaked under the house.

So now Lee is charged with possession of illicit whisky—and officers—have evidence collected by Yates, who held a washtub under the knothole.

LINDSAY, Ont. — The Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night reassessed its intention to hold bloodless bull fights at this town, 20 miles west of Peterborough, Aug. 2 and 4.

Announcement of the fights drew several protests and a statement from Ontario Attorney-General Roberts that charges might be laid.

Executive Secretary Ed May said: "No one raises a fuss at the Calgary Stampede when half a dozen animals are killed annually."

BECAUSE:

Your authorization of strike action is now the only means at your disposal to get fair consideration of a decent contract settlement.

Your authorization of strike action will not be given effect until deemed advisable by the District Policy Committee.

Your authorization of strike action confirms your decisive rejection of the majority report of the Conciliation Board which recommended a year's wage freeze, while living costs are rising. It also recommended contract changes which will take away existing contract benefits.

REMEMBER:

➔ Wage settlements for other unions in the province have raised their wage rates as high as 15%.

➔ The Pulp and Sulphite Workers, in the same industry, with the same employers, have a base rate of $1.89 an hour; while it is proposed that the IWA base rate remain at $1.72 an hour. Vancouver street-sweepers get $1.84 an hour.

➔ The rise in living costs has practically wiped out last year's wage increase. A continued rise in living costs is expected rather than any decline.

➔ Productivity per man-day throughout the industry is higher. Fewer workers are producing more. Labour costs per unit of production are less than before the last wage increase.

THE EMPLOYERS ARE ABLE TO PAY A WAGE INCREASE

The employers have made enormous profits in the past, derived from the natural resources of the province. They are continuing to make substantial profits. The market prospects promise them the restoration of their high level profits of past years. Under these circumstances they have the moral obligation to pay the wage increase that will keep their employees abreast of living costs, and reward them for increased productivity.

Market demands are expanding. The pronounced demand shown in the first four months of this year is now showing a further expansion. Home-building programs in the United States and Canada have been launched on a scale that ensures a boom for B.C. lumber. At competitive prices, the sale of B.C. lumber in all export markets is showing a decided upward trend while production and shipping costs have been lowered.

HERE IS THE RECORD OF FOUR MONTHS' TOTAL SHIPMENTS

Eastern Canada	4.2 million bd. ft.	none million bd. ft.	—
Total to all Other Countries	204.4 million bd. ft.	86.3 million bd. ft.	135%

Don't Brand Juveniles, Tory Urges

OTTAWA—What should be done to save an erring youngster from being haunted by a court record the rest of his life?

The House considered this problem Tuesday without coming to any final conclusions. But there was general agreement that a person should not be branded for life because of some wrong act committed in youth.

Gordon Aiken (PC, Parry Sound-Muskoka), a former Ontario juvenile and family court judge, said many of the incidents that bring young people into court "are things that all of us have done, but we have not all been caught."

WOULD DESTROY RECORD

He spoke in debate on a bill sponsored by Noel Dorion (PC, Bellechasse) that would amend the Juvenile Delinquents Act to maintain "absolute secrecy" for the files, reports and records of juvenile trials. It would have such records destroyed five years after the trial.

The bill won support from other Progressive Conservative members, but was debated throughout the hour set aside for private members' legislation without a vote. It may come up for discussion again later this session.

Mr. Dorion, a Quebec senior crown prosecutor, said "society has no right to give him, the juvenile, harmful publicity and still less to make him carry a police record through his life like a millstone around his neck."

In his work he had seen "how unscrupulous" some organizations, such as finance investigators, could be in using juvenile delinquency records.

ADVERTISING QUERIED

H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) asked Tuesday whether it is government policy to let certain magazines "exploit the good looks" of cabinet members in what he called an obvious form of overt advertising.

His question referred to magazines controlled from the United States and published in Canada which he said carry photographs of cabinet members and senior civil servants with messages from them.

He did not elaborate, but earlier this session CCF House Leader Hazen Argue questioned the propriety of Time magazine using a picture and a message from Immigration Minister Fairclough in an advertisement of the magazine.

Mr. Herridge said there is a growing irritation among Canadians over this "intrusion of a form of American commercialism into the public life of this country."

External Affairs Minister Smith said that insofar as the question applies to his department "I would make the observation that pulchritude is very frequently an effective medium in international affairs."

He said he wonders whether Mr. Herridge would suggest that "less attractive pictures" be used.

A formula for reconciling the human factor in northland development with "hard-headed economics" was outlined before a House committee Tuesday by Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton.

He said in effect the federal government will ensure a reasonable standard for all, but nobody should go north with the idea he is automatically entitled to the living standards he left behind in Toronto or Montreal.

"I draw the line at subsidizing," the minister said before the standing committee on mines, forests and waters.

His theme was that the government is vividly aware of the hardships and chafing irritations of life in the north, but the minerals are there, the land can be lived in and there is the romance of adventure.

The House Tuesday approved 27 divorce bills in less than five minutes. They had already been passed by the Senate. There was no debate.

'Some Right to Be Irritated'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New England senator said today Canadians "have some right to be irritated" with the United States, and called for more attention to economic policies to help improve Canadian-U.S. relations.

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) suggested among other points in a speech prepared for delivery before the Senate that Canada be included in any future inter-American economic conferences aimed at promoting economic growth of the Western Hemisphere.

"At a time like this, when international communism is again showing its teeth, it is well that we take stock of what is going on in the country with which we have the most in common," he said.

Too many Americans need to be "more aware of the common needs and aspirations of the United States and Canada."

Aiken, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, said his suggestions were aimed at easing what he called the irritations that complicate otherwise harmonious relations between the U.S. and Canada.

The Ferries Stay On

PREMIER BENNETT HAS ACT-ed boldly and speedily to keep the Black Ball ferries running between the Island and the Canadian mainland.

His action in seizing the line is probably without precedent among the provinces. It was an extraordinary measure to meet an extraordinary situation and apparently the best he could do under the circumstances.

The unions are to be commended for their good judgment and sense of responsibility in meeting the Government's terms to continue operations at existing wage rates while settlement is being sought on their demands. The company's co-operation is also appreciated.

By this eleventh hour action,

Vancouver Island has been saved from isolation by ship from the Canadian mainland.

But if this is a rescue, it is not a solution to the basic economic problems involved in the earlier strike by the SIU against the Canadian Pacific Coast Service vessels.

Still to be solved for long-term purposes are questions of routes, service, size and type of ships, and costs of operation for links between Victoria and Vancouver or some adjacent British Columbia port.

The wage questions have yet to be settled and the Princess ships remain idle.

Action has been taken only to meet an emergency—risky action that was essential.

Twelve-Mile Limit

A BITTER DISPUTE BETWEEN Britain and Iceland has a special and direct interest for Canada since it arises out of the very policies that the Canadian Government would like to adopt.

Iceland has declared unilaterally that no foreign ships shall fish within twelve miles of its shores. By this order Iceland enforces the regulation which Canada advocated at a recent international conference in Geneva.

The twelve-mile limit was opposed by Britain, the United States and various European countries. Lacking a two-thirds majority, it was defeated. But Iceland is going ahead anyway to assert its control of all fishing waters within a dozen miles of its coast.

Such a prohibition would greatly damage British fishermen who for centuries have fished close to Iceland. The British Government has advised Iceland, in a sharp note, that it will not recognize the twelve-mile limit and will resist any interference with its ships on the "high seas"—that is to say, outside the three-mile limit recognized by most nations throughout the world.

In Canada the outcome of this dispute will be awaited with concern. For the Canadian Government believes that Iceland is right in its assumption that any nation should be able to monopolize the fisheries up to twelve miles from its coast. Mr. George Drew argued strongly for that principle in Geneva, mainly to protect the fisheries off the coast of British Columbia, where Americans are free to fish wherever they please, beyond three miles.

Canada has never indicated, however, that it would try to enforce a twelve-mile limit unless it could secure the agreement of interested foreign nations, mainly the United States.

Iceland already has found that it cannot damage British fishermen with impunity.

In a former dispute, beginning six years ago, Iceland extended the old three-mile limit to four miles. Britain refused to recognize the new regulations and 28 of its fishing craft were fined by Icelandic courts for fishing three miles from the island shore. In addition, Iceland fined 34 ships of other foreign nations.

As a result, Britain forbade the landing of Icelandic fish in its market. That act of retaliation cost Iceland dearly. Yet Iceland has now begun another and wider attempt to restrict British and other foreign fishermen. More retaliation by Britain is in prospect.

There is a lesson in these events for Canada. Unless we can persuade foreign nations to accept a twelve-mile limit we cannot enforce it without risking retaliation which we could ill afford. Monopolizing coastal waters up to twelve miles, we could catch more fish but could we sell them? Or might we not find aggrieved nations restricting the imports of other Canadian goods? Can we risk a unilateral policy opposed by our two closest friends, Britain and the United States?

There is no sign yet that the Canadian Government will take that risk but it will doubtless continue to work for an international twelve-mile limit by patient negotiation.

The People Want It

ESQUIMALT COUNCIL'S DECLARATION this week that Christie Point should be reserved as a public park by the Capital Improvement District Commission added one more official voice to a local chorus that has become practically unanimous.

The beautifully wooded peninsula at Craigflower has been saved from one subdivision plan but it could still fall victim to another. The only feasible way in which this waterfront property—almost the last suitable site in the Greater Victoria area—can be saved for public use is through purchase by the Commission, which is empowered to acquire property for this purpose.

Creation of a park at Christie Point is obviously a good project, obviously a needed one and obviously a popular one. The next meeting of the Commission should recommend purchase of the property and the Provincial Cabinet should take early action.

Keep Lakes Safe and Enjoyable

SAANICH COUNCIL IS TAKING formal action to ban float planes from Elk Lake and to restrict, if not forbid, use of that body of water by power boats.

Acting Reeve George Austin has defined the reason for such action in clear terms: "If we are going to have it (the lake) as a recreation park, let's keep it a recreation park and ban planes and power boats."

This attitude reflects the sentiments of a large number of residents in the vicinity of the lake and of thousands more who go to it for outings and swimming.

It is to be hoped the council receives the necessary support to carry through its proposal.

The fact that such action is sought should serve as a warning to float plane and boat owners now using other lakes on the south end of the Island. If they create a nuisance, or, by noise and careless handling, destroy the enjoyment of others at such lakes, they may expect similar public reaction to them.

It is true that this is a mechanical age. It is also true that the high speed power boat has come into its own in recent years and has added immeasurably to the enjoyment of recreation seekers who like the water.

But when boat and plane owners interfere with the rights of others and when they become not only a nuisance but a positive danger, it is natural to expect authorities to step in and check their activities in the public interest.

If small plane and boat owners want to enjoy their particular hobbies, they must follow them in locations and in a manner to avoid intruding too severely on others. If they do not, then control, restriction and complete bans will be enforced upon them.

A little thought and thoughtfulness now may save such people from creating animosities which will inevitably work to their own detriment.

Who'll Buy My Wares?

A REPORT FROM THE INTERNATIONAL fair at Poznan, Poland, indicates that the products of heavy industry are taking a back seat. The crowds of visitors appear more interested, it is said, in consumer goods such as freezers full of food, guitars, chocolate and motor boats.

This is a new departure for Soviet-style exhibitions. Can it reflect an acknowledgment by the authorities that people's real needs are personal rather than industrial, that they would rather buy something they can enjoy than finance a machine which will only be used to make another machine? Can it mean, too, that the people behind the Iron Curtain may hope for a chance to buy such consumer products as well as admire them in the show cases?

Perhaps the American exhibit, featuring blue jeans, color TV and a jazz band, spurred the Communists to a matching effort. But will that effort cease when the TV is turned off, the jeans are folded and the jazz band plays its signature?

TOO GOOD FOR US

By B. A. TOBIN

A Shower in Time

I BELIEVE it was Mark Twain who held that the way to tell a veteran Mississippi resident from a "foreigner" was to confront the person in question with a glass of water from that famous and beloved river. The outsider would drink it carefully, trying not to disturb the layer of sediment at the bottom of the glass. But the true-blue Riverman would stir it up with his finger before quaffing. He was going to get it all, even though to a stranger what he was getting was something to avoid.

It's something the same with Victorians and their weather. While folks from some parts of the globe can go weeks and even months with unvaryingly hot, sunny weather, your real Victorian gets uneasy when the sun has shone very long. He wants to get his finger in the glass and stir up a little cloudiness so he'll get the full flavor of his wonderful climate.

The feeling may not even be realized by the native. All he knows is that when the weather has been hot and sunny for an indefinite but nonetheless calculable length of time, he becomes restless and slightly apprehensive.

He will agree with anyone that the weather is glorious, simply delightful, lovely and warm, and aren't we lucky to be having it.

But in the next breath he will worry a little that the garden is drying out, that it's been quite a long time since we had any rain, and that maybe a good downpour is just what we need.

Growing Anxiety

If the good weather persists, it will not be long before your true Victorian is openly worrying. The gardens need a good soaking, he will tell you, the lawns are burning up. His concern for growing things will be touchingly displayed, even though his sole gardening activity is taking care of a patch of grass and a border of perennials.

What he really means, of course, is that he wants the rain for himself. He is tired of this unalloyed goodness in his weather. He is bored with sunlight and fair breezes, with cloudless skies and dry air. What he wants is a good downpour, with the drops pattering on the leaves, the eaves dripping, the roadway puddling and the ditches running with a bountiful surplus.

When that happens, when the hot spell has "broken," as he puts it, the Victorian will breathe a sigh of relief. The tension is eased, things are back to normal, and he can even stand another period of sunshine for a while.

This same characteristic is exhibited in those Victorians who accept good weather with a vague feeling of guilt.

Your Victorian lady will speak with pleasure of a wonderful spring—the warm days, the early flowers, the lengthening evenings. And then she will add, with that undercurrent of anxiety brought on by good fortune: "I do hope we're not going to have to pay for it later on."

It is difficult to explain this attitude. But it is a very real Victorian frame of mind.

Why should we feel that a fine spring must be paid for with a cold and wet summer, that for an especially pleasant summer the gods will exact the toll of a long, hard winter?

There is no explanation. It is just part of being a Victorian.

Do not mistake me. The Victorian will enjoy his good weather. No citizen in the world will make better use of it. With smiles of joy he will take advantage of a hot spell to swim, to play golf, tennis or a dozen other sports, to go sailing, and above all to enjoy his garden.

Full Use

He may also use the heat as an excuse to retire to the shade of a maple tree or porch and equalize temperatures with a long, cool glass in his hand. He will use his good weather, of that you can be sure.

But when it has gone on for a while there comes a critical moment when suddenly he is waiting for it to end. He won't know it right away, and certainly no observer would know it, but between two ticks of his wrist watch his outlook has changed.

There is no way to measure the length of time needed—the number of days cannot be computed in advance or even accurately determined in retrospect. But at some point in time the switch occurs. From then on there is a growing conviction, which eventually matures to the point of verbal expression, that "what we need is a good shower."

It is a strong instinct and a sure one. Indeed, at certain seasons of the year it becomes a matter of health.

Let there be too long a period without rain and your Victorian will develop coughs, sneezes, wheezes and a host of minor ailments. He will regard the dusty gutters and dry street drains with distrust, seeing germs and disease in their desiccated depths.

The Cure-All

"We need a good rain to fix all this," he will declare with conviction—and have you ever noticed how often the adjective "good" is used with the noun "rain" by Victorians?

Sooner or later he gets his wish. The skies cloud up, the grey masses creep lower, a cool draught from the ocean strikes the warm air and down she comes.

The Victorian smiles with pleasure. He hears the rain patter on the trees and shingles, he smells the sharp ozone-like tang as the drops hit the warm pavement or make moist circles on the dusty path.

Soon the puddles are shining and little run-off streams are gurgling. The air is cool and fresh, the countryside is green. Your Victorian quickly recovers from his good weather and is relaxed and happy again.

Quite a Prophet

In a recent letter Mr. H. V. O'Reilly states that in 1,000 years' time, only two Englishmen now living will be remembered: Earl Russell, or, as I think he prefers to be called, Mr. Bertrand Russell, and Sir Winston Churchill.

If he is able to give not only the number of these immortals, but also their names, Mr. O'Reilly is a prophet of no mean order. And if the first part of the prophecy is true, it would seem that our world is indeed destined to enter an age of darkness, in spite of the efforts of Mr. O'Reilly and two or three other correspondents of this department to avert such a catastrophe.

However, if only two are to be remembered, I do not think that one will be a philosopher. I suppose that no one who knows of his accomplishments will doubt Mr. Bertrand Russell's intellectual stature, but few people are interested in philosophy. I have seen a double lecture-room well filled in the fall for a course of weekly (free) lectures on the elements of metaphysics. After a time one room was shut off, and in the spring term the attendance had dropped to a handful.

The connotation of ethical terms when used by determinists like Mr. Bertrand Russell, is not the same as when used by most other Occidentals. I do not know whether Mr. O'Reilly is a determinist. If he is not, there is a fundamental difference between his views and those of Mr. Bertrand Russell; if he is, he may pity his errant fellow-mortals, but surely he cannot reasonably blame them.

The Uncashed Cheque

THE central but still half-concealed future of the Lebanese situation is what amounts to an uncashed certified cheque in the desk of President Camille Chamoun. Figuratively speaking, the cheque is marked "good for a landing of Anglo-American military forces to defend Lebanon's independence."

It was written by the British and American governments, after only 24 hours of agonized consultation, at the very outset of the Lebanese civil war. At that time, a major condition was attached to the cheque. Before it could be cashed, the Lebanese government was required to complain to the United Nations about the attack upon its independence that has been organized by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser and his Syrian viceroy, Abdel Hamid Seraj.

Lebanese President Chamoun and his stout prime minister, Samy El Solh, were and are reluctant to cash the cheque.

Their reluctance was sufficiently indicated by the very long interval between the outbreak of fighting in this unhappy little country, and the presentation of Lebanon's complaint to the UN Security Council.

Equal Reluctance

The equal reluctance of the British and American governments to have the cheque cashed was indicated by what then transpired in the UN Security Council. One wonders, indeed, whether the Swedes were not stimulated to present their resolution, calling for UN observers to go to Lebanon.

By any sensible test, this kind of UN intervention is highly unlikely to produce any good result. Maybe the personal diplomacy of UN-secretary Dag Hammarskjöld will bear some sort of fruit, although this also seems unlikely.

The point is that the foreign interference in Lebanon's affairs has already occurred. The arms, the money and something like 2,000 Syrian and Egyptian officers, soldiers and trained specialists in terrorism have already crossed the Lebanese borders. UN border control is hardly feasible, and it can only limit the problem and can not possibly solve it.

The American and British governments must have understood all this very clearly when they so eagerly accepted the Swedish resolution. They must have wanted to buy a little more time during which "something might turn up." The spirit of Mister Micawber was behind this move, in fact.

Here in Lebanon, meanwhile, the Amer-pel the rooming-house owner to supply carparks for other than their own tenants?

Quite a few years ago there was quite an argument to have "off-street parking supplied by the city, so car owners were forced to pay parking rent, into a meter at so much per hour. This money was to be earmarked for the purpose of buying a parking lot and erecting a multiple parking building with ramp or elevator to the upper floors, where those who wish to park for longer than one hour could go and pay rent accordingly.

Stores and other businesses should not be compelled to supply parking space for their customers. It is the city council's place to see that every encouragement should be given business here in Victoria instead of doing all it can to discourage business here by making business firms, etc., supply parking space for cars of people who mightily buy a stick of gum, etc., but do business in another firm amounting to large sums of money.

Let's Have Boars

If Gulliver were alive today I'm sure he would set sail immediately for the island which breeds a race of men and women so prodigiously modest and delicate that they even put their pigs into diapers. Perhaps Freud has an explanation for the atavistic motives behind the performance of this bizarre ritual.

Before it is too late, may I make a suggestion which should add zest to the fun and games on Saturna Island? Instead of babying a bunch of small, defenceless pigs—a tame proceeding—let our island friends give us some real excitement and go the whole hog in this our centennial year, by procuring a sounder of full-grown boars for the purpose. Preferably with tusks.

Not-Synonymous

With many Americans, and some Canadians too, there is a creed-bound tendency to consider the terms atheist and communist as synonymous, which indicates a lack of knowledge about both these philosophies.

In the philosophy of non-theism, or atheism, individuals and the development of their personalities are supreme. But in communism the state is supreme, and all development is primarily to benefit the state.

The beliefs of atheists are based on reason, observation, and experience whereas communism is founded on dialectical materialism; a doctrine not supported by science, history or atheism. Communism is coercion, while atheism teaches always that the remedy of force must never supplant the remedy of reason.

The fact that communists do not accept Christianity cannot be equated with intellectual atheism. The Buddhists, Shintoists, Mohammedans, Jews, etc., do not subscribe to Christian beliefs either.

Communism will always be repugnant to intelligent atheists so long as individual rights are trampled upon; so long as there is no free opinion; so long as men are held physical and mental slaves.

We hold with the great freethinker of the last century, Robert G. Ingersoll, who said—"Liberty is a word without which all other words are vain."

V. O'REILLY.

Day of Rest

One Sunday, for example, when the fighting here in Beirut looked like it was getting out of hand, the able American ambassador, Robert McClintock, had to go to the general's country villa to find the army commander and ask his intentions. When he got there, the general greeted him with the amiable explanation that "Sunday was a day of rest."

By the same token, after the rebels in Beirut had looted and burned the house of Prime Minister Samy El Solh, a few short rounds landed on the fortress-like house in the old city that is occupied by the leader of the rebels here, slippery Saeb Salam.

Saeb Salam's telephone is in full working order. He used it to telephone the army chief of staff and to protest, apparently successfully, against the breach of etiquette from which he had just suffered. Hence it seems improbable that Gen. Shehab will lead a major charge against the rebel barricades. All the same, American and British influence has been steadily applied, throughout the past week, to defer the cashing of the cheque that President Chamoun holds.

Daily Discussion

The first indications that the Lebanese government was considering an appeal for Anglo-American military intervention were received a week ago, when the fighting in Beirut city took such a sharp turn for the worse. Since then, the question of the uncashed cheque has been under almost continuous discussion.

President Chamoun has been given official assurances by the American embassy that the cheque's validity has not been affected by the UN presence here. So the cheque can still be cashed at any time. It is payable on demand, unless of course the hesitations and delays finally produce a situation in which President Chamoun is actually unable to present the cheque at the bank.

Change Inevitable

NEW YORK—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld went to Lebanon as a one-man task force in the hope that he could make unnecessary the intervention of Anglo-American forces and a possible clash with Russia.

This is the interpretation widely put on the sudden decision of the secretary-general to fly to Lebanon. It's long been known that he regards the Middle East as the area where the fatal clash between the two giants would be most likely to start. The hope was that the presence of the secretary-general and his little force of about 100 unarmed men would be enough to stabilize the situation and that intervention by national forces will not be requested.

Such intervention would have thought-provoking parallels with the intervention of Russia in Hungary. As a matter of fact, it was a curious coincidence that the Moscow announcement of the execution of former Hungarian premier Imre Nagy came the same day that John Foster Dulles announced that the United States might intervene in Lebanon. There are, of course, profound differences in the two cases—the Hungarian government was not freely elected and there was no evidence that other countries helped instigate the revolution. In Lebanon, in contrast, the government is democratic and there is strong evidence of outside trouble-making. Nevertheless, it appears that the rebel forces do have a degree, perhaps a very considerable degree, of popular support. It is difficult to make room for comparison between the two cases.

Burke

What worries many people here is uncertainty as to the purpose of Anglo-American intervention. It's rumored that Washington has been informed by her Middle East allies that the Baghdad Pact will collapse if the Lebanese government is allowed to go down, cries for help unheeded. In other words, people are not sure whether intervention would be for the purpose of allowing the Lebanese people to choose their own government in peace or whether it would be for the purpose of shoring up the present Western government.

The plain fact is that the majority of the people in the world are unwilling to die for the dear old Baghdad Pact. In fact, some of the United States' closest friends are not sure that the Baghdad Pact means very much any more.

And the plain fact is that changes appear inevitable in the Lebanese government. This country used to have a large Christian majority but now the faster-breeding Moslems equal the Christians and, in a short time, will be in the majority. Presumably they'll demand that their country be more closely aligned with the United Arab Republic and presumably they'll make this demand felt at the polls.

But, on the other hand, an attempt is being made right now to force change on the government through violence and this government has appealed to the international community for assistance. Such an appeal can't be ignored.

So what to do? Suppose the gun-running and outside provocation continues. What does the world community do then?

Obviously the Lebanese people should be given the opportunity to decide their own fate and, if it requires force to do this, obviously it would be the force of the international community. In other words, another UNEF may be required.

LONDON LETTER

Those Toothbrush Drinks

LONDON—Frederick Erroll is parliamentary secretary to the board of trade and when MPs start raising questions about the state of the tourist business it is usually he who has to do the answering.

Latest query to be brought up concerned the matter of Britain's Sunday licensing laws and why tourists had to be subjected to drinking whisky out of tooth mugs in their hotel rooms.

In his reply he struck me as out of touch with the drinking habits of Americans and Canadians.

"What may appear to us as irritating restrictions are part of the charm of Britain to tourists," he said. "While the restrictions on alcohol may embarrass them, they possibly provide the opportunity of one or two amusing stories to relate on their return."

It is news to anyone who has lived in Canada that Canadians are embarrassed about drinking from a toothbrush glass in a hotel bedroom. This has always struck observers from outside as part of the Canadian way of life, brought on originally by stringent licensing laws and become an accepted manner of entertaining friends in a hotel.

Mr. Erroll seems unaware that over the years it has become the way Canadians like to drink.

Reayburn

By WALLACE REAYBURN

Constantly I am being reminded of this. A friend will arrive from Canada and phone me from his hotel. Come down and have a drink and a chat, he says. I arrive at the hotel and am beckoned over the house phone up to his room. There, out comes the bottle and the toothbrush glasses.

I mention that downstairs there are all sorts of facilities in the way of bars and lounges where one may drink in surroundings more pleasant and more comfortable than sitting on the edge of a bed. But this is waved aside in favor of a drink from a toothbrush glass with tapwater.

Far from Mr. Erroll's supposed embarrassment by Canadians about drinking in that way, they prefer it like that—to the extent of not only doing it while Sunday restrictions are in force but while all the hotel's bars are wide open during the course of the week.

Whenever my wife and I drop down to a London hotel for one of these get-togethers with friends over from Canada we feel ourselves momentarily transported back there and we get nostalgic about the days when a phone call would come from the Royal York or the King Eddie and we would be summoned for a reunion over the toothbrush glasses with friends who have dropped in from Montreal or the west.

But doubtless this is a dying thing, now that drinking restrictions are becoming less rigid all over the place in Canada, and hotel room drinking will join speakeasies in being past history.

mer, of Port Alberni, was re-elected president here Tuesday of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association.

Also re-elected were vice-president W. "Bill" Plumridge, of Langley; secretary-treasurer A. F. Brownsey, of Sooke; executive members Mrs. G. Cottle, of Northfield, and Dick Britton, of Sardis. New executive member is Robert Corney, of Duncan, who replaces Ken Patterson, of Cloverdale, as staff office representative.

Today is the third and final day of the convention, with resolutions highlighting the session.

HOME GARDEN

Shows Overcome Early Season

This year the local flower shows should prove of more than average interest to gardeners. Premature summer weather has hurried along many plants which ordinarily are at their best in June.

What will take their place in the shows?

Experienced exhibitors will have been employing all kinds of cultural methods in order to obtain specimen blooms by show dates.

The early removal of the first roses will have produced fine now well along, and will doubtless appear in the floral arrangements.

Twelve sections of arrangements will commemorate our British Columbia centenary with themes such as "Natural Resources," "Public Parks," and "Hospitality."

New gardeners also will find the early vegetable section filled with ideas for incorporating into their own plantings next year.

Making written notes of specific varieties both in flowers and vegetables is one sure way of getting the desired results.

Rammed Ship Creates Inferno

Flames Touch Off Manhattan Bridge;
Sailors Swim Through Blazing River

NEW YORK (AP)—A Swedish freighter rammed an oil tanker in the East River early today, flinging sheets of blazing gasoline into the air and setting fire to Manhattan Bridge far above. The tanker sank. Three persons were reported missing and 37 injured.

Sailors plunged into the water and swam past flaming oil slicks, screaming for help to horror-stricken watchers on shore. Crew members on rescue boats, swarming from all over New York harbor, dragged most of them to safety.

The crash filled the teeming East River with gasoline from the sunken tanker. An urgent warning was issued against smoking in the area.

Chemical foam was rushed to the area to fight a possible new explosion caused by the drifting, volatile gasoline. Much of it was in the waters of the Brooklyn navy yard.

DARING MOVE

Many of those rescued were saved by a fireboat that danglely maneuvered alongside the flaming wreckage so that crewmen could leap aboard.

Individual acts of heroism accounted for other rescues.

The inferno occurred about 12:25 a.m. at about midstream, Manhattan Bridge, more than 130 feet above, connects Lower Manhattan with Brooklyn. It carries subway lines as well as an auto roadway.

"I heard a muffled explosion," said James Watson, 41, who works nearby.

"I saw a mass of flames that looked about half a mile long and 100 yards wide . . .

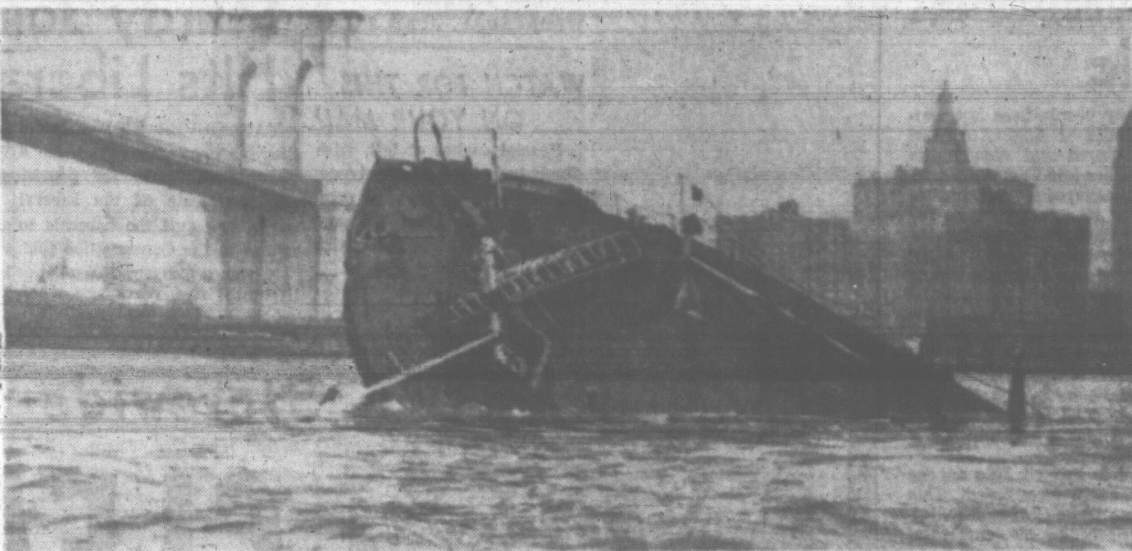

SPREAD BY WIND

"I could hear men in the water, being swept upstream, yelling for help. The flames were also blown north with the wind and tide and appeared to stretch about half a mile along the river," he said.

" . . . I could see the superstructure of the freighter on fire and the side of the freighter blistered. The men aboard were yelling 'help, help.'"

Panic, Heavy Damage In Italy Earthquakes

L'AQUILA, Italy (AP)—Earthquakes shook towns and hamlets in southern Italy Tuesday, causing panic, cracking buildings and tumbling down roof tiles. No one was reported hurt.

MIDNIGHT HORROR was created in New York's East River when oil tanker, Empress Bay was rammed by freighter

Freighter Abandoned After Fire, Blast

BOMBAY (AP)—A small Dutch freighter carrying 400 tons of American military explosives to Pakistan, Iraq and Iran has been abandoned off the Indian Coast after an explosion and fire. Reports received in Bombay said Capt. Van Den and the crew of 10 of the 469-ton Nigeria swam ashore. One crew member was reported injured in the explosion.

Patrolman Richard Gazzola and a 16-year-old passerby, Candido Santiago, dived into the river when they saw two seamen floundering. They held the seamen afloat until a tug pulled them all aboard. All were taken to hospital.

Reds Withdraw Troops

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Peiping Radio announced Tuesday that 100,000 Chinese troops will be withdrawn from North Korea between July 11 and Aug. 20.

Banker Kidnapped by Thug

NORTH TROY, Vt. (AP)—A branch manager in this town almost on the Canadian border told police a customer kidnapped him at gunpoint Tuesday, forced him to drive 120 miles from his office to White River Junction and robbed him of $2,000 in bank funds.

State police issued an alert for a light-haired man about 25. The banker is Ransom Willis Adams, Jr., 41, vice-president of the Chittenden Trust Company of Burlington, in charge of the bank's North Troy branch.

Loudspeakers Blare

SHANGHAI (Reuters)—About 15,000 loudspeakers have been installed in homes, farms and factories to distribute news and Communist government orders, the newspaper Wen Wei Pao reported Tuesday.

Greenland, now largely covered by an ice cap, was warm enough to grow magnolias in past centuries.

Bylaw Approved On Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP)—After years of heated controversy and prolonged litigation, commercial Sunday sport was made legal in Vancouver Tuesday—at least for the next few months. Twelve days after the British Columbia Court of Appeal handed down a 3-to-2 majority decision approving provincial legislation placing the decision in the hands of the city, council passed a bylaw making it permissible to conduct 14 specified sports on the Sabbath for gain.

But the contentious issue, which has divided public, clergy, council, police commission, legislature and bench, may still not be finally settled.

Rev. Harold T. Allen, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance for B.C. and Alberta, said Tuesday night he has recommended to the organization's national executive that the case be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Allen said the executive will make a decision on the matter shortly in Toronto. He said there appears to be little chance that an appeal could be presented to court this summer.

CPR Freight Plunges Over Bank After Splashing Into Mudslide

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 65-car CPR freight train, loaded with wheat, splashed into a mound of mud and debris Tuesday night 42 miles east of Kamloops, B.C.

Four diesel units went crashing 150 feet, down an embankment and 13 freight cars also were derailed, seven of them going over the embankment for varying distances.

A fireman on the westbound train, identified as Z. Bede, suffered minor head cuts. The other four crew members escaped injury.

The derailment occurred at Squilax, on the CPR's main east-west line, at about 8 p.m. PDT and was responsible for delays and detours in transcontinental runs.

The slide, one of 33 which were counted in a 75-mile stretch east and west of Kamloops, resulted from heavy rains which fell in Interior British Columbia Tuesday, putting an end to an extremely hot spell.

HIS TRUCK LODGED at end of open draw on Pensacola Bay Bridge, John W. Harpison escaped without injury. Harpison, of Pensacola, Fla., said his brakes had failed. Traffic was held up for 42 hours. (AP Wirephoto.)

'Nonsense' SIU Says Of City MP's Attack

Statements by Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillips criticizing the Seafarers' International Union today were labelled "nonsense" by union business agent Norman Cunningham.

Mr. Cunningham termed "a piece of outright stupidity" the MP's remark that the SIU has supplied the CPR Coast Steamships Service with sailors who don't know a hawser from a heaving line.

"This remark reveals Mr. McPhillips' complete lack of knowledge of anything to do with sailing ships. This man obviously doesn't know much about anything," he said.

The MP told a Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association meeting Tuesday night that wages for able seamen were $238 a month, plus an estimated $100 in extras, three meals a day, "good meals," and accommodation, including "sheets on the bed."

Mr. McPhillips claimed the SIU men could not hold a course or act as quartermaster and that they had to be trained by the CPR, even though they were "armed with an SIU card classing them as able seamen."

Snapped Mr. Cunningham in reply, "This is the stupidest thing I ever heard."

At the Tory meeting Mr. McPhillips defended the position of the federal government with regard to the CPR-SIU strike.

He said the reason he was in Victoria was his desire to have an on-the-ground look at the strike situation. He said he felt the federal government had done everything it could legally do toward ending the strike.

"Some have suggested force should be used. It can't be done. The authorities of the Labor Relations Act have been carried out. It is a legal strike. The two parties have got to work this out with assistance of a mediator."

He said it would not be necessary for the federal government to take the same step with regard to the CPR strike, as there is not the same state of emergency as would be apparent with both lines out of business.

He corrected a statement attributed to Premier W. A. C. Bennett that he had been "sent" from Ottawa.

"I would have thought the premier would have been mature enough to know the government would not send a private member. I came at my own expense."

Mr. McPhillips branded as false, statements which charged he had not answered telegrams sent to him by Mayor Scurrell and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

He went on to say, local public officials have provided "... too much vocalism" on the strike and have hurt tourism as a result. That is what's done the damage."

Another FANTASY

This remark brought the report from Mr. Cunningham that Mr. McPhillips "should go and tell that to the men on the picket line in Victoria. They will be surprised to learn they are worth $338 a month. This is another fantastic statement."

City Tories Re-Elect Chairman

Victoria shipping official Gordon Elworthy was returned to office Tuesday as chairman of the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association.

Mr. Elworthy was named to the post recently on resignation of Eric Charman in mid-term.

Annual meeting of the group at Norway House drew 80 persons.

Other officers are: W. B. Monteith, vice-president; F. B. Nicholson, secretary; John Fox, treasurer, and as directors, Monte Drake, R. B. Anderson, W. B. Hughes, Mrs. Kathleen Stone, Frank Mulliner, Mrs. R. C. Campbell, Mrs. Isabel Mowat, Edmond St. Jorre and James Barclay.

Convention delegates and provincial executive meeting representatives are Mrs. Gene Tierney and Eric Charman. Alternates are Mr. St. Jorre and Mrs. W. A. Jones.

Federal member A. De B. McPhillips and chairman Elworthy are also entitled to attend the provincial convention at Vancouver, Sept. 11 to 13.

The meeting was addressed by provincial organizer for the party, Cecil Holmes of Victoria. He called for a greater measure of social events to keep the organization together.

The meeting was informed that Gowen Guest, provincial president and candidate for party leadership in B.C., was unable to attend despite earlier hopes he would speak.

It was explained he had just returned from Ottawa and was unable to come here from Vancouver immediately for the meeting.

Talks Delay Strike Against Oil Tankers

Prospect of an early strike against companies operating oil tankers in B.C. diminished today with the news that further negotiations with the Seafarers' International Union are scheduled for Friday.

Telephone Cable Link From Europe to U.S.

PENMARCH, France (Reuters)—The French Post Office cable ship Ampere Tuesday laid the first 125 miles of a 2,500-mile telephone cable that will link Europe with the United States by way of Canada. A seaman was swept overboard by a rope during the operation off Brittany but was hauled on board unhurt.

Opposition Urged Against CPS Using Strike as Excuse

Victoria MLA Donald Smith said today Vancouver Islanders should oppose any move by the Canadian Pacific to use the SIU strike as an "excuse to end their service on the west coast."

"Canadian Pacific are being most unfair," he went on, "and seem to be adopting a dog-in-the-manger attitude. Apparently they want to scrap their uneconomical big boats and start up a fast ferry service, but we shouldn't let them do this."

"Island people have been using CPR ships in good faith for a good many years, and they should not be let down. It is up to the CPR to get the ships running and make public their reasons why they won't budge over their 8 per cent offer to the seamen."

Mr. Smith said the company was adopting a very "strange" attitude in the strike. He added he was in favor of a tunnel to the mainland.

Saw Body of Girl 'Flying Over Car'

COURTENAY (CP)—A preliminary hearing of a criminal negligence charge against David Paetkau, 32, arising from the traffic death last Wednesday of 13-year-old Rosemary May, opened Tuesday and was adjourned until July 11 after evidence was given by two witnesses.

Allan Dunbar, whose class the girl attended, and his wife were the only ones to give evidence. The pair are leaving to live in Scotland.

Dunbar testified that he looked up from a nearby lawn to see the young newspaper carrier flying in a back somersault along the top of a passing car. The teacher said he found the girl lying on the opposite side of the road to that on which she had been riding her bicycle.

Mrs. Dunbar told the hearing she noticed Rosemary May pedalling her bike slowly on the right-hand side of the road. "Seconds later I heard a most dreadful crash," Mrs. Dunbar said.

CHEMAINUS—David Woodley, 11, local soap box racing champion, is living up to his reputation as a winner.

Last year he won four out of five races on the Island. Competing here Sunday in the all-Island soap box trials, he won the Class "B" event, and then went on to defeat the Class "A" winner to win the grand championship run. For winning the two events Sunday, David won the Community Centre Trophy, a flash camera and a salmon trolling outfit. In May, David won top honors in the Nanaimo derby.

Runner-up in the Class "B" event was Wayne Duncan, of Chemainus.

Jimmy Stevens, of Port Alberni, won the Class "A" event and a sleeping bag. Runner-up was R. Miller of Nanaimo.

FISHERMAN REPORTED LOST 10 DAYS, SAFE

BANKS, New Westminster fisherman, reported missing for 10 days, has been reported safe at moorings here.

He was the object of a radio alert by RCAF Air-Sea Rescue Centre in Vancouver when he was not heard from for 10 days. His vessel has a radio receiver but no transmitter.

B.C. Fishermen's 'Take' Increased By 3 Per Cent

British Columbia fishermen in May earned a total of $1,991,000, an increase of 3 per cent over the value of fish caught and landed in the same month last year.

May fisheries statistics issued by the department of fisheries reveal that halibut landings accounted for 63 per cent of the total fish values, with salmon slightly better than 20 per cent.

In quantity halibut landings were below those of May, 1957, but higher prices brought fishermen gross returns of $1,295,000, 11 per cent better than the $1,165,000 received last year.

Total landings of troll-caught salmon were down sharply from May, 1957, but salmon gillnet fishermen increased their catch 25 per cent over that of last year. The total landed value of all varieties of salmon was $423,000.

Landings of sole, cod and crab accounted for the balance of the catch.

Nanaimo Votes July 24 on New Sewer Bylaw

NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo will vote July 24 on the long-awaited sewer by-law. Ald. Haig Burns told city council as he introduced the $2,450,000 by-law.

He described it as "without question one of the most important in the progress of the city." The bylaw provides for extension of the existing sewerage system to the unserved areas of the city, and for elimination of three existing sewerage outfalls which now discharge into Nanaimo Harbor, polluting harbor waters and the adjacent beaches.

When you ask for a loan

at the B of M...

you do not ask a FAVOUR

WHEN the housewife calls at the grocery store and orders a supply of provisions, she is not asking a favour... she is buying goods for which she will pay cash... purely a matter of business.

So with your bank. It is a business proposition just as much as the grocery store.

The grocer deals in groceries... the banker deals in credit. And, as the making of loans is the principal way by which his bank derives its revenue, he is as anxious to sell his credit as the grocer is to sell his groceries. And, like the grocer, the banker naturally wants to know that he is going to be paid for his goods... that his loans will be met when they fall due. That, too, is only good business.

When you have occasion to ask for a loan, look at it this way. Come to the Bank, not feeling that you have to ask a favour, but to offer the manager a sound business proposition which will be of profit both to you and to his institution.

Swedes Enjoying Glory At Least Until Sunday

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The brilliant Brazilians and the crowd-pleasing Swedes have reached the final of the World Soccer Cup championship. Brazil routed France 5-2 in one semi-final here Tuesday and Sweden played copy-book soccer in knocking out West Germany, the defending champions, 3-1, in the other, at Goteborg, Sweden. The final will be at Rasunda Stadium here Sunday. France and West Germany will meet Saturday at Goteborg to decide third place in the final standings. The tough Germans fought all the way to stay in the tournament. But the defending champions, a man short after full-back Erich Juskowiak was sent off in the 53rd minute, found the task too great. The score was tied 1-1 when Juskowiak departed. Then experienced campaigner Gunnar Gren, a 38-year-old with the brain of a master footballer and the legs of a youngster, shot Sweden into the lead in the 81st minute. Right winger Kurt Hamrin made the game safe for Sweden with another goal in the 88th minute. The Ullevi Stadium at Goteborg rocked to the roars and explosive cheers of the home crowd. For the Brazilians, it was all just too easy. Vava put them ahead in the second minute. That shook the French but for the first 20 minutes they stayed in the game. The crowd of 40,000 at Stockholm expected a soccer display of sheer artistry from the Brazilians after all the praise the South Americans have received during the championships. The fans got all they expected—and more. The South Americans displayed pinpoint passing, speed, superb individualism and powerful shooting. The Brazilian star in a team of stars was Pele. The 17-year-old revealed a natural gift for the game in his baffling dribbling and accurate passing. The Brazilians were in the French half of the field for 35 minutes of the second half—such was their superiority. At times, even the fullbacks swept into the attack leaving 10 Brazilians swarming around the French goal. THREE FOR PELE Pele got a hat-trick of goals in the 51st, 64th and 75th minutes. Vava and Didj had scored for Brazil in the second and 39th minutes. Juste Fontaine scored in the ninth minute for France, and Roger Piantoni got France's other goal in the 83rd minute. A sea of tension had been built around the Germany-Sweden contest after several Swedes accused the Germans of reaching the round of four through rough defensive tactics. The Germans, in turn, charged Sweden with poor hospitality and trying to keep supporters away from the game by refusing to sell them tickets. However, an estimated 500 Germans were allowed to enter free by showing their passports. SAME RECORD Brazil and Sweden will enter the championship round with identical records of four wins and a tie, although the South American team has an 11-2 goal record as against 10-2 for the Europeans. Brazilian trainer Vicente Italo Feola believes the team can win the Soccer Cup for the first time in Europe. "I do not think Sweden can be much better than France and Austria, which are the two best teams we have yet met," Feola said. "Of course we had spies down in Gothenburg for the Sweden-Germany semifinal, and we should be able to change our tactics for them."

ANOTHER SLANT

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—You don't need bifocals to understand the current comments of such estimable sports figures as Jack Dempsey, Jack Kramer and Al Lopez.

But you do have to read between the lines. Consider, first, the observations of Dempsey as the old Manassa Mauler observed his 63rd birthday anniversary. Dempsey applied the spurs and more than a touch of the whip to Floyd Patterson, who wears the heavyweight crown which once adorned the Mauler's head. "Patterson's inactivity hurts him and boxing in general," Dempsey allowed. "When he doesn't fight, the whole game suffers because people lose interest." Undoubtedly this is true. Patterson, in a year and a half as champion, has made only two title defenses.

Yet, considering Dempsey's comments, isn't it strange that he himself is remembered, and rightfully so, as one of the all-time greats of the ring?

Because, in the seven years and two months he held the heavyweight title—beating Jess Willard on July 4, 1919, and losing finally to Gene Tunney in September, 1926—Dempsey made only five title defenses.

Dempsey defended twice in 1920, against Billy Miske and Bill Brennan; once in 1921, against Georges Carpentier; failed to defend in 1922; defended twice in 1923, against Tommy Gibbons and Luis Firpo; went two years without a defence, and finally met Tunney—exactly three years after his last title defence.

Which means that if Patterson climbs through the ropes once in the next year and a half he'll be exactly even with the immortal Manassa Mauler's timetable.

Which brings us to Kramer, the pro tennis czar. Arriving in England Tuesday, big Jake hastily reassured the all-England-court moguls that he wasn't there to raid the amateur ranks for fresh pro talent and, horrors, had no idea of trying to put his circus into hallowed Wimbledon.

"I have no intention of trying to get dates at Wimbledon," he said.

But before emplaning for England, Kramer said he had inside information that Wimbledon would be receptive to giving him dates and that he would see about putting on a pro tournament there with his pros, who were Wimbledon champions, as the main attraction. I know he said this. He said it to me.

Then there's Lopez, one of baseball's finest managers but a man burdened with an atrocious lack of talent on the field.

The good Senator's hirings are looking at the Yankees through the wrong end of the baseball telescope. They are so far back they should be wearing the original sack uniforms of the golden '20s. But Lopez says:

"We still have a chance of catching the Yankees." Well, what do you expect him to say? But, as you can see, you have to read between the lines.

Only One Champ Left in Field; Jeroski Washington Medalist

BELLINGHAM (AP)—John Woods, a sharpshooter from Seattle, pulled the upset of the day Tuesday as he eliminated two-time champion Dick Price from the Washington State Amateur golf tournament.

Woods won it by dropping a five-foot putt for a birdie two on the second extra hole of the round-of-16 match.

Joe Jeroski, Vancouver, B.C., took possession of the medal when he outstroked Bob Doyle of Marysville and Moreno Cado of Seattle in a three-hole, sudden-death playoff. The trio had tied for the medal at 71 in Monday's qualifying round.

Jeroski also won his first round match, defeating Ben Bengen of Bellingham 2 and 1. Only other B.C. golfer in the field, Walt McAlpine of Vancouver, was sidelined by Bob Doyle 3 and 2.

ATHOL, Mass.—Tommy Garon, 127, Claremont, N.H., outpointed Lou Carmichael 12½, New York, 8.

LONDON, England—Roger (Kid) Bessy, 128, Nigeria, dropped Jules Touss, 128, South Africa, 7 (non-title). Spider Webb, Chicago, outpointed Dick Tiger, Nigeria, 30 (titleweight).

NIFTY NO-HITTER

Hemming Had Best Water-Wings Handy

You can't blame members of the Mawson-Gage Carnarvon Pony League team if they possess a belief today that George Hemming has an aquatic background.

While rain was wiping out almost half of the minor baseball schedule in Greater Victoria on Tuesday, George stepped out to enjoy his finest hour.

The Oak Bay Police moundsman checked Mawson-Gage 3-0 in turning a brilliant no-hit, no-run performance at Carnarvon Park.

The win was the ninth in 10 games for Police, moving them three games in front of their nearest rivals, Victoria City Police.

Even losing, Mawson-Gage pitchers did themselves proud. Gib McLean and Barry Hitchens allowed the winners just three safeties in the five-inning, rain-shortened contest.

A no-hitter went into the Hampton Little League record books as Ron Caton and Dick Ferril teamed up to give Beavers a 14-5 victory over Cubs.

The Capital City Colt League has openings for several players and anyone interested is asked to turn out at Windsor Park tonight, at 6.30. Colt League players must be in the 15-16 age bracket.

Visiting Ladies Triumph Easily

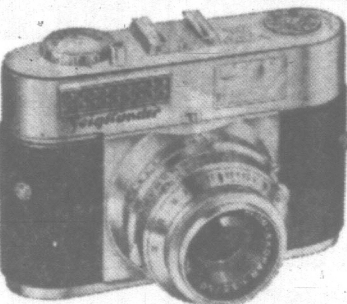

Women's par competition played at Uplands Golf Club Tuesday was won by Mrs. R. Humphreys, one up.

In inter-club play, a team of nine Port Angeles golfers defeated an Uplands squad, 7-2. A return match will be played in Port Angeles in August.

EX-PROS MUST WAIT

What's All Fuss About?

By The Canadian Press

A decision by Ontario senior amateur hockey teams to regulate the use of reinstated professionals has stirred little excitement in professional circles.

Ten Ontario clubs agreed last week not to sign reinstated pros for 12 months after the date of their last professional game and not to pay the pro teams for reinstated players.

National Hockey League club officials seemed unperturbed. Jack Adams, general manager of Detroit Red Wings, was the most outspoken.

"I personally don't go for the proposal. I don't think they really want to do it but they might save some money that way."

Lynn Patrick, general manager of Boston Bruins, said his team sometimes lends or sells to senior teams players who aren't good enough for professional ranks. When that happens "we're not interested in him anyway. We want our players to go ahead, not back."

The move was intended as an economy measure by the financially-harassed senior clubs, which in recent years have tried to outbid each other for former NHL and American Hockey League players.

The decision leaves the possibility the reinstated pros may be grabbed by the other senior amateur circuits—the Okanagan Senior Hockey League and the Western International Hockey League.

AHL president Jim Ellery, and AHL leader, president of the WHL, declined comment. Ellery said only that he is "puzzled" by the action.

Oak Bay Group Calls for Binding Arbitration In Disputes Involving Essential Services

A four-pronged resolution aimed at curtailing present powers of labor unions was passed Tuesday at a meeting of the Oak Bay Progressive Association.

The resolution, presented by Justin Harbord, asked that all labor disputes in essential public services such as power and transportation be subjected to binding judicial arbitration.

The resolution also asks for legislation requiring any union voting to strike, to walk out within 48 hours. If not, the vote would be rendered void.

This clause was designed to remove the possibility of a strike vote being used solely as a bargaining weapon.

Asked also in the resolution which with others will be presented to the resolution committee at the provincial convention in Vancouver Sept. 11 to 13—is that all unions be required to file annual public financial statements as now required of public corporations. Unions would be held accountable for damages when a charge of conspiracy of intent to damage is proven.

MONOPOLY HIT

Further, that this party go on record as being just as opposed to excessive demands by unions to the public detriment as it is to unreasonable monopolistic actions of big business.

"Present laws bend over backwards in favor of labor," Mr. Harbord told the 35 persons in St. Mary's Hall.

In the field of health, the association went on record opposing state medicine "and to further control by politicians of the medical profession;" favored immediate expansion of hospital insurance and a plan to discourage the practice of medicine "by persons other than properly licenced members of the medical profession."

Mr. Harbord, who also presented the health resolution, said persons indulging in "medical quackery... are killing people in this province."

The association also voted in favor of amending responsibility of the government's forestry adviser, Gordon Sloan, by making him chairman of a three-man board to consist of a qualified forester and a qualified lumber manufacturer.

On the subject of power, the association declared preference for private power in all situations wherever private enterprise can provide the required service, and opposed damming of the Fraser River for power purposes "until unassailable proof" is forthcoming that there will be no destruction of salmon.

Backed also was a Harbord recommendation that a 10-year plan be adopted for provincial road and bridge construction with major capital expenditures arranged for recession years, and that such work "be based on need, and not for political advantage."

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Searchlight Tattoo drew 2,000 more people here Tuesday night than Monday night for a total attendance of close to 10,000.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who took the salute Tuesday night, said: "This is a truly amazing show. Everyone in British Columbia should be proud of the show and should attend it."

B.C. TO SIGN FOR INSURANCE WITHIN DAYS

British Columbia and the federal government have reached full agreement and will sign final documents "within the next few days" preparatory to launching the national health insurance scheme July 1.

B.C. Health Minister Eric Martin announced Tuesday the federal partnership will not likely mean any changes in the type of hospital insurance now provided by the B.C. government. It will mean an additional $12,000,000 in federal grants this year, however.

It is expected the national plan will cover diagnostic services and out-patient services as well as acute hospital care, now provided by BCHHS.

Span Disaster Pensions 'Ridiculous'—Alderman

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER — Alderman Evelyn Caldwell told city council Tuesday the pensions to be paid by the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board to widows of victims of Vancouver's June 17 Second Narrows Bridge disaster are so small as to seem "ridiculous."

"When a man is injured and gets a pension he can usually continue to work," she said. "But these mothers can't."

A board official said Saturday the widows are eligible for life pensions of $75 a month and payments of $25 a month for each dependent child. The men were employees of Dominion Bridge Company, which contributed to the fund.

Alderman Tom Alsbury supported the protest and commented: "The board is not poverty stricken."

BERRY SHIPMENT

MISSION CITY — The first straight carload of fresh raspberries to be sent from the Fraser Valley to the prairie in four years was shipped by rail Tuesday.

Shipment went from the Fraser Valley Growers' plant here to Winnipeg. The car contained 881 crates.

Only processed raspberries and fresh berries in less than carload lots have been shipped east in recent years.

TELEGRAPH CUT

PRINCE GEORGE — Trees blown over telegraph and telephone lines near Blue River late Tuesday were blamed for knocking out all Canadian National telegraph communications in northern B.C.

Circuits to Vancouver were switched to Northwest Telephone facilities while crews rushed to the scene to patch the crashed lines.

PGE AGREEMENT

VANCOUVER — Union and management officials here announced jointly Tuesday that the Brotherhood of Locomotive

Engineers has signed with Pacific Great Eastern Railway for no wage increases in the next two years.

There is an automatic tie-in between PGE and CPR wages, however. If the CPR grants the engineers an increase the PGE men will get the same amount. The union is asking the CPR for 20 per cent.

The PGE engineers and firemen did not press their claim for a B.C. differential.

FILES OFFERED BY GAGLIARDI

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister Gagliardi said Tuesday all his correspondence on the Second Narrows Bridge will be made available to the royal commission of inquiry headed by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the B.C. Supreme Court.

He said he had so informed the attorney-general's department.

"I have not been notified that I shall be wanted as a witness, but I'll be available if they want me," he added.

Bridge Span 'Not Overloaded'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A coroner's jury ruled Tuesday that 15 of 18 men killed a week ago in the collapse of the Second Narrows bridge here died as a result of injuries or of drowning.

The jury found that the deaths were unnatural and accidental.

The jury's verdict at an inquest here made no reference to the cause of the collapse of two spans of the bridge. The only rider attached to the verdict recommended "in time of emergency that unnecessary marine traffic be temporarily halted or diverted so that bridges do not open during rescue operations."

The rider apparently resulted from information the jury received through a telephone call to the National Harbors Board, where it was learned the old Second Narrows Bridge, which the new bridge was to replace, was open to marine traffic shortly after the disaster and an ambulance was delayed.

The jury dealt only with 15 of the known dead since three bodies were still missing Tuesday.

A survivor of the bridge collapse had testified earlier that although there was 230 tons of equipment on the end span when it fell, he didn't think it was overloaded.

James English, a job superintendent on the project, still bore black eyes and facial cuts suffered in the collapse.

Mr. English testified he did not think overloading was the cause of the collapse.

"As long as the smartest engineers in Canada say that's the way it should be done, I guess that's the only way to do it," he told Coroner Glen McDonald and an inquest jury.

What's to Do With Balloons?

What shall we do with the Centennial balloons?
Send 'em to Vancouver?
Express 'em back to London?
Or just quietly sink 'em in the Strait of Juan de Fuca?
This is a game everyone can join and the Times invites its readers to express their views.

City engineer's department has been wrestling with the problem for weeks and weeks and weeks.

Up go six balloons, inflated.

Next morning its four down, two up.

Then eight up. Next morning six up, two down.

Plastic covers, pumping, patching—everything seems to have failed.

Since the downtown merchants, not the public, paid for the balloons—the game might be a bit unfair, but it would be rather fun.

The Times today offers a prize, for the best solution of the balloon problem.

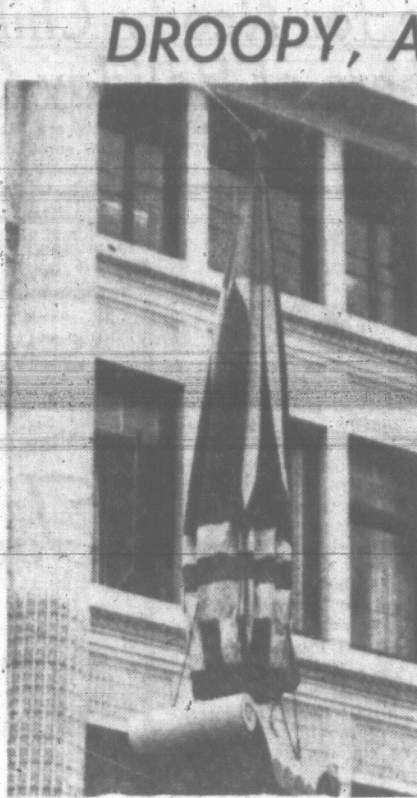

The prize? You guessed it, a deflated balloon—if the committee will donate it.

DROOPY, AREN'T THEY?

Big Bull Sea Lion Lolls in Boat To Entertain Mill Bay Tourists

By DON INGHAM

A bull sea lion weighing several hundred pounds startled fishermen, holidayers and ferry travellers Sunday morning by lolling in the sun for five hours in an open boat.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Raue, the proprietors of Francis Fish-

MONTE ROBERTS

It appears there is some dissatisfaction with the centennial balloons, simply because most of them refuse to balloon.

For this reason, there is to be a meeting Thursday, to decide what to do with the balloons.

Also, The Times has opened a contest asking for suggestions along this line.

Unfortunately, the rules forbid me to enter the Times contest, but there is no law against me making a suggestion. Leave the balloons up for the next 100 years. Just in case we ever tend to get inflated ideas about ourselves.

In the line of duty, our legislative reporter the other day examined the documents which made it possible for the B.C. government to keep Black Ball ferry lines running. Two government proclamations were required.

Each named W. D. Black as civil defence co-ordinator for the period during which the government will operate Black Ball Ferries.

Each was prepared and approved by the acting attorney-general, W. D. Black.

And each was signed by the provincial secretary, who is also minister of municipal affairs, and whose name is W. D. Black.

Our legislative reporter passed this information on to me with the comment that it was certainly a Black-day at the buildings.

But, personally, I would rather wish that Mr. Black has himself a Ball.

If I may be permitted to wind up today on a serious note, I think it is time we abandoned panic stations as far as the ferry strike is concerned.

It is all right to keep working for full restoration of service.

But let's stop screaming about it in voices so loud they can be heard across the continent.

As far as I can see, anybody who wishes to visit Vancouver Island has a choice of three routes by sea—not including swimming, water-skiing, or hitch-hiking on a tow-boat.

Let's remember that, and let's tell the world about it.

ing Resort at Mill Bay, saw the huge beast at 7.30 a.m., comfortable as you please in a 14-foot boat belonging to Oak Bay fireman Harold H. England, 1000 Foul Bay Road.

The boat was moored a few yards off shore, and the sea lion apparently had climbed aboard over the side, since there was considerable water in the boat.

For a while he sat at the stern. Later he was seen at the wheel. For almost two hours he lay on the small deck at the bow, basking in the sunshine and dangling his flippers in the water.

Patrons at the resort watched goggle-eyed, and Mill Bay ferry captains, when they learned of the sea lion's carry-on, detoured their vessels by a few yards to let the passengers take pictures.

At 12.30 p.m., after having satisfied himself as to what those odd-looking animals with white skin do in boats, he slipped over the side.

"Every now and then he'd snuffle and snort," Mrs. Raue said. "He didn't seem to mind people watching him."

Mr. Raue said the animal broke nothing, and even scrambled over an 18-inch windshield to the bow of the boat without causing damage.

"Every now and then he'd poke up his head and look around, then settle back in solid comfort," he said.

Although there was no breakage, the boat was in a "mess," Mrs. England said today.

"But the sea lion brought good luck," she said. Next time out my husband caught a 21-pound salmon."

Yale University Names Victorian As Instructor

Peter Smith, son of retired Victoria High School principal, Harry Smith, has been given an instructor's post in Yale University classics department for the coming 1958-59 session.

Recently granted his doctor's degree in classics at Yale, Peter was gold medalist at University of B.C. in 1953, and prior to that was the leading student in this province in senior matriculation for university entrance.

HIGH ON LEWIS REEF SEINER WORKED LOOSE

The Vancouver seine boat Dorbarth was worked loose from Lewis Reef, near Discovery Island, at high tide Tuesday evening after going hard aground at 1 a.m.

The fishboat, with owner-skipper Julius Barth aboard, came off under her own power. She was thought to be in danger at low tide, around 3 p.m., and Mr. Garth wirelessed for aid.

A B.C. Pilotage launch and a fisheries patrol vessel answered the call and stood by until danger of rolling over was past.

Dorbarth was returning from fishing grounds near Port Renfrew, bound for Vancouver, when she slid onto the reef at low speed. The steel-hulled, 50-foot vessel sustained no damage.

Saanich Refuses To Hire Outsiders

Saanich Municipality today rejected a union demand that carpenters be hired in place of staff employees for construction work at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

Outside staff employees were ordered to continue alterations to two former army huts to be added to existing hall to provide more office space.

The municipality's action follows a protest from Local 1598 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

The union claims it has jurisdiction over all construction work in the Greater Victoria area.

The union threatened to picket the hall if the municipality refused to hire union carpenters.

At a meeting of the finance committee Tuesday, Roy Wooten, spokesman for the Saanich Municipal Employees' Association, said staff workers won't tolerate any "interference from the carpenters' union."

He said if the carpenters place a picket line at the hall, members of the municipal employees union won't respect it.

"We will walk across it and take an injunction against the carpenters," he said.

Accident Victim Refuses 'Lift'; Meets Trouble

Gordon A. Green, 1700 Foul Bay, refused an offer to have someone drive him home after an on-the-job accident, and in driving himself home became involved in an auto crash.

He appeared in city police court Tuesday charged with careless driving and speeding over 30 miles an hour, to which he pleaded guilty and was fined $35 for the first and $25 for the second offence.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Green to July 4 for consideration of driver's licence suspension.

Green told the court he received a head injury at his job at HMC Dockyard and when he was sent home his superior asked if he wanted to have someone else drive him.

The minor collision occurred on Oak Bay, 50 minutes after the driver was stopped on Esquimalt for speeding.

City Man Guilty In Liquor Case

Victoria service station operator John Thomas Pepler, 37, of 421 Kingston, was convicted in city police court today for possession of $1,750 worth of liquor stolen at Sidney May 24.

He was remanded to July 3 for probation report and sentence.

Defence counsel Kenneth Murphy asked for the probation report in view of Pepler's "long mental history" as well as criminal record.

TWO VITAL POINTS

In finding the accused guilty Magistrate H. C. Hall referred to two main points in the evidence which he said played an important part in the decision.

The points upset the defence stand that Pepler was unaware the liquor was stolen, although during the trial the defence admitted the liquor, found in Pepler's service station, was stolen.

Three days after the theft, Alyffe Adeyson Hulbert, 23, and Richard Verrier Rowinson, 21, both of 327 Niagara, pleaded guilty to the theft and were each sentenced to two years less a day in jail.

Liquor was stolen during the night of May 23-24 from the provincial government liquor store at Sidney.

"That same morning," said Magistrate Hall, "that liquor was found in your garage in the city. There is no defence or no submission offered (in this respect)."

"It was admitted the liquor was stolen."

"You were around from time to time while the liquor was being placed in the garage. You deny you knew the liquor was stolen."

Sunshine To Return On Thursday

Cloudy skies Thursday morning will give way to "a fair amount" of sunshine in the afternoon, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"We have had our surge of moisture, and the air should continue to dry," he said.

Temperatures will range between 54 and 68 degrees, he said, and winds will be light and from the west.

LINE OF THOUGHT

The magistrate went on: "There are certain features that lead me to think you did know. When the police arrived with the search warrant, you said:

"Let me know what you are looking for and I'll help you find it." Also, there was something else you said:

"If you had been a half-hour later, I would likely have phoned the police myself. It's hard to explain because it involved relatives."

Four half-brother was involved."

Hulbert is Pepler's half-brother.

The police raid resulting in the charge was carried out by members of the city police uniform and detective branches in co-operation with the RCMP, and followed a night of investigation.

Premises raided were a service station at 2821 Douglas, in which Pepler was a part owner.

FIREMAN'S CAR LISTENED TO, JUMPS AT HIM

The fates and Harry Marion's car conspired to keep him from going to work today.

Marion, a city fireman going on shift at the main fire hall, heard an unusual noise in the engine of his car as he parked under a hose-drying tower at the rear of the hall.

Leaving the engine running, he stepped in front of the car to listen, the car moved ahead and pinned him to the tower, injuring his leg.

Fellow firemen rushed him to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Nash Succumbs Here at 48

Mrs. Gertrude Beatrice Nash, 48, wife of Dr. E. T. W. Nash and resident of Victoria since 1948, died today in hospital.

Surviving besides her husband are four daughters, Mrs. R. Herron, Victoria, and Betsy, Susan and Dorothy, at home; two sons, Michael and Peter, at home; one grandson; her mother, Mrs. T. A. Clegg, Mission City; two sisters, Mrs. G. S. Borthwick, Chinook Cove, and Mrs. T. Catherwood, Mission City; and one brother, Thomas Harvey, in Hope.

Prayers will be offered Friday at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Haultain Street, and mass will be celebrated in the church Saturday at 10 a.m. Interment will be at Hatley Memorial Gardens. McCall Bros. have charge of arrangements.

FOREST CLOSURE STAYS ON ISLAND

Help by Rain Not Enough

Travel and restricted industrial forest closures remain in effect today throughout Vancouver Island and the Vancouver Forest District generally.

Forestry officials said at noon, the recent rains helped, but not enough. Nanaimo area got most of the soaking.

"There will be no lifting of the closure unless there is more rain and the forecast is for sunshine. We hope it can be lifted for the weekend, however."

FIRES QUIET

All Vancouver Island fires, including the largest at Gold River are "quiet" and controlled. The Gold River area was heavily overcast at noon and there was hope of rain.

Worst trouble area in B.C. is still the Prince George Fire District where high winds have encouraged flames. Over 40 fires are burning.

New grief came from a violent electrical storm early today. Several new blazes were started by the lightning, four fires were fanned out of control by the wind and only a "few drops" of rain fell.

There has been no appreciable rain in the area for two months.

Most disastrous fire is located near Lower Post on the Yukon Border. Some $2,000 acres of timber have been destroyed, and the fire still rages along a 10-mile front.

More than 600 men are engaged in the fire lines in the Prince George fire district and throughout the province the total surpasses 1,000. B.C. fire losses so far this year already are greater than for all of 1957.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Public works crews today began construction of a canopy over the Legislative Building steps which will shield Princess Margaret during ceremonies here during the July-royal visit.

Department officials said miniature flagpoles which recently were removed from the lawns because of vandalism, will be returned before the princess's arrival. Decorations which are sun-faded after months of exposure on the front walls of the buildings may also be "freshened up."

Saanich Voters' Association announced today it is opposed to the use of Elk Lake by aircraft and speedboats.

It noted that regattas and other forms of organized display would not be opposed by the association.

Juveniles are suspected of breaking into Gordon Fish Auto Parts, 1319 Quadra, Tuesday night where police discovered entry by means of a skylight.

Two glasses and two empty pop bottles used by the culprits were found in the premises and a flashlight stolen from the shop was found on the roof next to the skylight.

A model of an early British Columbia Cariboo district gold mine will be placed on display this week at the Department of Mines, Douglas Building.

It has been displayed recently at the Public Library. An exact scale, working model of the Mucho Oro mine, it was built by Victoria hobbyist, John Smyly.

Victoria police commission today approved purchase of three radios at a cost of $3,000 for use on motorcycles.

Elizabeth Baess of Royal Victoria Yacht Club placed third in the Pacific Northwest district Adams Cup women's sailing championships held at Lake Washington Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Baess was close behind the winner, Mrs. George Davis of Seattle, after the first three of the four races, but placed fourth in the final race.

Q. Would you please tell me the meanings of the words Nanaimo, Cowichan and Qualicum? D.M.M.

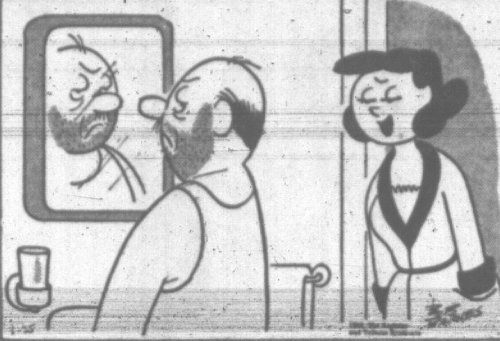

A. Nanaimo is derived from a Nuxia meaning "the whole" or "a big strong tube." Cowichan means "mountain warming its back on the snow" while Qualicum means "the place the dog salmon run." All are, of course, of Indian derivation.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Most Canadians find their pennies shrinking in these days of high prices, but a Regina lady has discovered how to make pennies stretch... all the way to Korea. Her donation to the Unitarian Service Committee at 78 Sparks Street in Ottawa, "From a working gal who has to stretch pennies, but knows how lucky we Canadians are," will provide many days of food and care for children in Korea. Each penny of her donation will grow to many dollars worth of comfort to hungry, sick children.

An empty seat on a CPR train from Montreal to Magog, Que., one night in December, has meant life to a sick child in Korea. The empty seat belonged to a Quebec lady, who sent the rebate on the ticket she did not use to the Unitarian Service Committee office at 78 Sparks Street in Ottawa. Her ticket rebate money will be used, as she requested, to buy life-giving powdered whole milk for children in hospitals and orphanages in the suffering and hungry land of Korea.

It is healthier to cut out between-meal snacks of gooey desserts than to stop eating meals when trying to lose or maintain weight. Teen-agers, especially, need basic foods for future health and happiness. Eat adequate breakfast, lunch and dinner and avoid snacks. To maintain energy between meals drink a glass of milk or fruit juice.

Swiss Village for Needy Children
Has Atmosphere of Holiday Camp

TROGEN, Switzerland (CP)—At first glance the group of wooden houses and high-spirited children look like a holiday camp. But the Pestalozzi children's village, high up among the hills in the German-speaking Appenzell region of Switzerland, permanently houses 230 needy children from Britain, Austria, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Switzerland and Hungary.

They are cared for and educated in a family atmosphere, and mingle with children of other nations, in the hope that they will understand and appreciate their ways of life.

The aims of the village are described by the Swiss founder Walter Corti: "The children's village is a place to meet and co-operate, a centre of mutual understanding beyond all national, religious and linguistic barriers." Corti, editor of the magazine Du, launched an appeal in 1944 to raise a "village for suffering children," and, backed by a group of enthusiasts the village came into being two years later. It is supported by voluntary contributions, two-thirds Swiss and one-third from other nations. Originally intended only for war orphans, the Pestalozzi centre now takes distressed children from all nations who stay for an educational training on several years.

It is named after the 19th century Swiss educationist, Pestalozzi, who dreamed of an experimental school where "heart, head and hand" should be equally appreciated and trained.

Each house contains 19 children of the same nationality, enabling them to maintain their own language, traditions, culture and religion. The individual groups are under the care of three educationists including married couples who act as house parents.

TEACHING PROGRAM

While mornings are reserved for national teaching, the nationalities mingle at international courses in the afternoons. The children generally stay until they are 16 and the village assumes responsibility for them until they are able to earn their living. It is anticipated that they will return to their home countries.

In primary school, the children are taught German, the village tongue, and they learn a second language in secondary school. They are encouraged to play a musical instrument and the village has its own orchestra of 20.

Among the 18 buildings on the 25-acre site, is a community building known as Canada Hall, a gift in part from Canada through UNESCO and in part from the people of Zurich. It is used as a gymnasium and as a meeting and concert hall.

High Heels In Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—High heels have come to Moscow. You can see one window display of them, two to three inches high, at G.U.M. department store on Red Square.

But a one-man survey indicates that few Moscow women actually wear them. An afternoon's walk in downtown Moscow disclosed one. An evening stroll netted three.

Meanwhile, G.U.M.'s display is packed three deep with sidewalk gawkers, as the stores' window displays usually are.

CLASHING VIEWS

"How lovely," says one young girl, "how stylish."

"How absurd," says a woman beside her.

A couple walks up. "Look at that," says the boy. "They aren't ours, are they? Must be imported."

A middle-aged woman explodes:

"How on earth can anyone walk on those things?"

A teen-ager beside her sighs: "They must be the latest thing."

MORE LIPSTICK

There is more lipstick in evidence now than there was two years ago, more color in women's clothes and even something resembling style in some of them. Smart clothes aren't denounced as capitalist decadence as much as they used to be.

The women's shoe department at G.U.M. shows some improvement over a year ago. Now there are some benches where you can sit down and try your shoes on before you buy them.

There are a dozen varieties of low-heel shoes, unattractive but solid. There are no high heels in sight.

"What high heels?" the salesgirl asks when you finally get to her.

"The ones in the window display downstairs," you persist. "Ah," she says with a mysterious smile, "that's upstairs. In the shoes-to-order department."

So you go up another flight of stairs.

A sign on the door says the shoes-to-order department is closed and that it is open only on certain hours of certain days. It doesn't say what those hours or days are.

Other officers are Mrs. Irene Carroll, vice-president; Miss Marion Bollingbroke, recording secretary; Miss Marjorie Siddall, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Marie Cooper, treasurer.

Also present at the dinner and installation were Mrs. Grace Morrow, past-president; Mrs. Ada Wood, Mrs. Jessica Grant, Mrs. Inez Regan, Mrs. Ursula Slack and Miss Kathy Donnelly.

President Mona Jewell presented Mrs. Donnelly with a gift of china in dogwood pattern, on behalf of the Victoria club.

Friendship Lasts 40 Years

In the First World War, Lillian Hibbert and Annie Cutt served in the Voluntary Aid Detachment of St. John Ambulance nursing branch overseas, and became close friends.

They were discharged 40 years ago in Ashton-in-Makerfield, Lancashire, Eng., and later came to Canada and were married.

Mrs. Hibbert lived in Haileybury, Ont., and Mrs. Cutt on Vancouver Island.

Friendship was maintained through correspondence until this year when Mr. and Mrs. Hibbert came west to visit Mr. and Mrs. Cutt at their home on Caerleon Place, Cadboro Bay.

The Hibberts intended to return to Ontario. Instead, they fell in love with Victoria and decided to stay here.

Once the decision was made they lost no time in buying a home and settling down to live on the Pacific Coast.

"If we'd known how beautiful it was out here, we would have done it 20 years ago," they say.

"Now we won't have to write letters," Mrs. Cutt adds, "we can talk over a cup of tea."

More Women Needed In Public Positions

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said recently the proportion of women in Canada's public life is "unusually low."

Mr. Diefenbaker, officially opening the week-long 50th anniversary convention of the Canadian Nurses' Association here, told more than 2,000 delegates and guests in the flag-decked Coliseum that the last 50 years have brought many changes to Canadian women.

"But these changes have not applied to their public life," he said. Canada needs women's participation in public life "more than ever before." There now are two women in Canada's House of Commons.

Five women sit in the Senate.

Queen Chooses Her Official Engagements From List of Several Thousand Requests

LONDON (Reuters)—Every day the pressure on the Queen's time becomes greater, yet despite this and her home life as wife and mother, at the age of addition to her normal round of duties. Her life is a timetable into which meticulous planning out of a list that averages 50 has scheduled more calls than anyone would think possible."

The book tells of the crowded days of the Queen's life from the time of her 21st birthday, as princess and heiress to the throne, when she broadcast from Capetown a speech of dedication to the Commonwealth.

It was compiled with full access to engagement diaries. And after working through them and commenting on many of the engagements with anecdotes and personal recollections, the author records that the Queen carried out more than 4,000 engagements of all kinds in these 10 years and has "brought a new democracy to the court."

More than 500 entries appear in the index to the book—a picture of every kind of activity and even candidly reporting occasions when the Queen or her husband, Prince Philip, have been criticized.

In addition to its worth as a reference volume, the book tells in its 224 pages many human and revealing stories.

One such follows the author's comment that there can never be any rules for royal decisions accepting public engagements are groundless.

reign must choose one or two requests daily throughout the year, "it is inevitable that many people must feel overlooked."

In 1956, the author recalls, Elizabeth was in Nigeria with her husband. He goes on: "A blind leper, Mr. John Aguh, welcomed the royal party to the Oji River settlement. We wish to express our joy and happiness to Your Majesty and the Duke of Edinburgh for visiting this country and more especially the settlement. We are enjoying the shade and protection here of medicine and food... long live the Queen."

"This was the first leper settlement ever visited by members of the Royal Family. Here the Queen met the 10-year-old girl and Prince Philip the 13-year-old boy whom they have adopted."

"The supervisor of the settlement, Mr. A. F. C. Savory, said: 'The Queen's visit will do more to conquer man's fear and hate of the disease than any other single act I can think of. People all over the world will read that the Queen, and the Duke penetrated a leper settlement, and this will convince them as nothing else could that be any rules for royal decisions accepting public engagements are groundless'."

Give Spice Cake Party Touch With Fluffy Caramel Icing

A tender, moist spice cake covered with fluffy frosting will bring enthusiastic applause from the family. Dainty almond sun-lowers add a summer party touch.

When you have baked the cake, give it an individual, extra special touch with a creamy topping. It isn't necessary to be a professional cake decorator. Many interesting decorations can be achieved with small candies, chocolate pieces, or nuts and a little ingenuity. Holiday or party themes are easy to carry out.

If you haven't time to make a frosting, achieve an exciting effect by placing an open-patterned lace paper doily on top of the cake and sifting powdered sugar over it. Then carefully lift the doily off, and your cake will be "frosted" with a delicate lace design. You may wish to make your own patterns with special designs for this simple cake-topping.

PARTY SPICE CAKE
Yield: Two 8-inch layers.
1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, packed, 2 eggs, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1/4 teaspoon allspice, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat well.

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices together. All flour mixture alternately with milk, adding flour first and last. Blend thoroughly. Stir in the vanilla. Pour batter into two eight-inch layer pans (bottom lined with waxed paper). Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg.F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Let cool five to 10 minutes. Invert on cake rack. Remove from pans, and frost.

Nutritious Egg Recipe

Serve hard-cooked eggs and noodles topped with a savory cheese sauce for an easy, budget-wise main course. For variety, devill the eggs. Cut eggs in half, remove yolks and mash with salad dressing or chili sauce, chopped onion or any desired seasoning. Restuff whites with yolk mixture, place on layer of cooked noodles in casserole, top with cheese sauce, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and heat in a moderate oven, 350° F., for 20 to 25 minutes.

Hard-cooked eggs should be tender, not rubbery. Eggs may be cooked in the shell by either the following two ways, but in both cases the eggs never boil.

1. Cold water method: Place eggs in pan with cold water to cover to a depth of about an inch. Bring water to boiling point, set pan off heat, stir eggs so they will cook evenly, cover pan and time cooking period 3 to 20 minutes depending upon degree of doneness required. Three to 5 minutes is ideal for the breakfast egg (soft to partially set yolk), 20 minutes will produce a hard-cooked egg. Chill hard-cooked eggs rapidly in cold water.

2. Boiling water method: Bring water to boil, carefully lower eggs with a spoon, one at a time, into water. Set off heat, cover pan and let stand 6 to 25 minutes. If more than four eggs are cooked at once leave pan over low heat but do not allow water to boil. To prevent eggs cracking when added to boiling water, let stand in warm water while cooking water is being brought to boiling point.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Need Willpower For Successful Dieting

A letter on my desk says, "I am much overweight and need to diet but LOVE to eat. Please tell me what to do. I am so unhappy this way."

Print the word "Willpower" in letters on a strip of paper or cardboard and paste it over the mirror in your bedroom. The dictionary defines "will" as "choice" or "determination." It defines "power" as "capacity for action." To use powers is an effort to succeed. So we find that willpower means the choice to use our powers to succeed.

I like this definition because there is no use beginning to diet until you actually have made a choice, until you have sincerely chosen to use your powers to succeed. The resolve must be real. You must KNOW that you will not backslide.

You actually must choose between the figure you have now and the dieting which is necessary for the figure you want. If your wish is strong enough, you will be able to realize it. Many men and women have played about with diet for years without any lasting success. Then some physical condition has caused their doctors to order them to reduce for health, and sometimes to save their lives. They have then done so and have remained at their ideal weight for the rest of their lives. You have to have a strong incentive.

Today we all have one! We know that overweight shortens life and makes us more susceptible to the diseases of middle and older age. Add this to the discomfort of overweight and the beauty angle and you will receive a powerful prodding.

However, willpower which has been weakened by lack of use can profit by a little help. Here are a few suggestions.

Decide on a short reducing period. After that set another period. In other words, break a long reducing haul up into shorter periods and concentrate on each as it arrives.

Do not break over your diet at all. If you once begin this, you are almost certain to fail.

Keep celery and carrot sticks to nibble on in-between meals, or save a glass of milk or some fresh fruit for in-between-meal snacks. Of course these must be counted in on your daily calorie allowance.

Eat slowly. It is a scientific fact that this makes dieting easier.

If you missed my 9-day diet which gives you a loss of 5 to 10 pounds in nine days time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the 9-day diet booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Railway Plans Special Cars In Pastel Shades for Ladies

It will be interesting to see how women take to a "segregation" idea advanced by an American railroad company. Plans are to install "four ladies only" cars, in soft shades of pink and grey, on the commuter trains running between Newark, N.J., and New York city.

"Some of the railroads have the men's club cars," said a railway official. "One airlines has special flights for male executives only. I think it's high time somebody gave a little attention to the comfort of the ladies."

CANOE ARRIVE AT BOSTON BAR

Stiff Winds Slow Fraser Brigade

BOSTON BAR, B.C. (CP) —The Fraser Brigade, paddling hard against the stiffest winds they've encountered in a month of re-enacting Simon Fraser's voyage down the Fraser River, landed at this tiny river community Monday night.

For five miles before the landing, groups of people were clustered on the high banks to watch the colorful crews' progress against winds that blew the canoes here and there on the river.

Some 100 people watched the landing about two miles below Boston Bar, then brigade and spectators went into the hamlet of 250 for a short ceremony.

Standout attractions there were the band of the Royal Canadian Engineers from Camp Chilliwack and the changing of the guard between a group of Britain's Royal Engineers and a similar number of Royal Canadian Engineers.

The Royal Engineers are of the same regiment that came to B.C. in 1858 and in five years laid the foundations of the province. They appeared in the scarlet-coated, tight-trousered uniforms of the day, with ancient oval-bored lance rifles.

The brigade now will portage the 29 miles between Boston Bar and Yale, which includes the famous Hells Gate and other treacherous canyons.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sandra Krause, aged 11, of Omaha, Neb., for her question:

How Do One-Celled Animals Reproduce?

There are countless varieties of these one-celled creatures sharing our world. They are as different from one another as are whales and mice, birds and tigers. The largest of these mites is just big enough for our eyes to see as a pale, hazy dot. Most of them measure several thousands to the inch.

Together, the one-celled creatures make up the huge Protozoa group of animals. Protozoa means the first animals and protozoa are classified in phylum I of the animal kingdom. There are so many of them and they come in so many varieties that some zoologists suggest giving the little fellows a whole animal kingdom to themselves. These experts would class all one-celled animals in phylum I and all the other animals in various subdivisions of phylum II.

The tiny mites are everywhere. They live in salt water, fresh water, and in the soil. Some live in the bodies of larger animals. Each variety of protozoan has its own method of life, of eating and of moving around. For all of them must eat and breathe, most of them

Nucleus Controls Cell Life

The body of a protozoan is a blob of jellylike protoplasm. Somewhere in this jelly is a more solid spot known as the nucleus. This nucleus seems to control the life forces of the cell. When it is removed, the little cell can keep growing and even take food. But it cannot digest and it perishes when its stored food is used up.

The nucleus is the vital factor in the reproduction of the protozoan. For it is the nucleus which first divides into two identical parts. Some protozoa have a large nucleus and a smaller one. In this case, both divide. The new nuclei then move to opposite ends of the cell. The blob of jelly develops a waist which gets slimmer and finally breaks. The original cell has become identical twins.

No protozoan gets old and dies. When times are good it simply becomes two or more blobs of jellylike protoplasm. In a way we might say that these humble mites have partially discovered the secret of immortality.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Charles Saso, age eight, of Long Island City, New York, for his question:

What Are the Trade Winds?

The trade winds are children of the sun and the spinning earth. Over the equator the noon sun is directly overhead and the air becomes hot. Warm air rushes and, over the equator, it is light and thin. The air north and south of the equatorial region flows in to replace this, thin atmosphere. Moving air is wind, and the air moving from north and south towards the equator forms the trade winds.

The spinning earth twists the trade winds. Those north of the equator blow from the northeast, those south of the equator blow from the southeast. The trades are most noticeable over the oceans, but they blow steadily day and night clear around the earth.

Find the equator on your globe. Now find latitudes 30 degrees north and 30 degrees south of the equator. From these latitudes the trade winds begin to blow towards the equator.

'SGT. FRIDAY' WEDS EX-BEAUTY QUEEN

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Actor-producer Jack Webb and former beauty queen Jackie Loughery were married Tuesday night at the home of Webb's best man. It was Webb's third marriage and Miss Loughery's second.

TRAIL BLAZER

'Sandy' Smith, Famed Arctic Explorer, Dies

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A famed Alaskan prospector and explorer, Alexander Malcolm "Sandy" Smith, died in hospital today at the age of 99.

Several books have been written about him. He appeared in a dozen movies. He had friends over all the world. In the early 1920's, he said, he was prospecting too close to Siberia, was arrested by the Russians, stripped of his belongings and imprisoned for three years. He escaped and stowed aboard a cargo ship bound for Shanghai.

Death was attributed to complications resulting from a broken leg suffered while visiting the Santa Clara home of violinist Yehudi Menuhin. Smith was second in command of the Sir Hubert Wilkins North Pole expedition in 1926, was a trail blazer for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and was a member of the first geological party to go up the Yukon River in 1902.

'MARY' SKIPPER DEAD
SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP) — Capt. Donald Sorrell, 64, retired former commander of the liner Queen Mary, died today of a heart ailment. He retired in 1956 after a 47-year sea career that began when he went around Cape Horn in a full-rigged sailing ship at the age of 15.

SO THIS... IS PROGRESS?

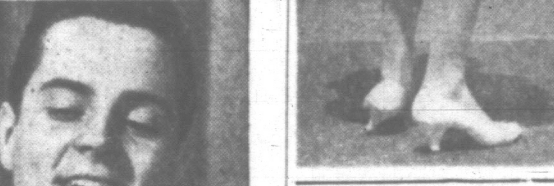

By DON INGHAM
Nowhere in the field of sociology has there been so much progress made of late as in that of attire for human beings, as shown in these two "fashion" photos from England.

Take the garb of the two chaps above. He in the tight pants and stripes will be camouflaged from the men in white suits by just standing still beside the iron grill of the asylum fence.

Checked suit on the right, with the square-toed boots, has been hired by the asylum operators to send poor old Stripes fleeing to them for safety and sanity. See how neatly one complements the other.

The girl on the right, though shows that the women's designers, God bless 'em, still think in terms of beauty. Note the chic and dash of that hat! See how the dress not only enhances the figure, but also has its own beauty of line!

All of us sure owe these designers a great debt of gratitude. We sure do.

STRATFORD FESTIVAL IN COMEBACK

Superb Showing of 'Much Ado' Draws Ovation From Audience

By BILL BOSS
STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — With a gay, sparkling production of "Much Ado About Nothing," Stratford, Tuesday night unveiled a sure-fire winner for its sixth annual Shakespearean festival.
A near-capacity theatre was held spellbound by a cast moulded by director Michael Langham, who for three tenderly effervescent hours unfolded the trap whereby Beatrice gets her Benedick and Claudio his Hero.

The standing ovation accorded the superbly-presented Shakespearean romantic comedy was in marked contrast to the formal-applause aroused by opening night's presentation of Henry IV, Part One.

CRITICS HAPPY
Critics divided in appreciation of Stratford's "Henry," closed unanimously in approval of its "Much Ado."

There was virtually no reservation in their unstinted praise of the production — its acting, staging, music and direction. Writers who regretfully panned Michael Langham for his presentation of "Henry" rejoiced that in "Much Ado" he has restored Stratford to its preeminence in Shakespearean comedy.

The season's third play, "The Winter's Tale," reaches the celebrated apron stage Monday, July 21. Meanwhile there is a wealth of other fare — musical, cinematographic and literary — to attract the festival visitor.

Britain's Eileen Herlie and Montreal's Christopher Plummer, matched foils for rapier sarcasm, tender with and bickering agreement to marry in mutual "pit," pace this play throughout. They don't "make" the production, for it is of whole cloth, but they do keep it sparkling-fresh, delightful and true.

MARRIAGE TRAP
Beatrice and Benedick, obviously marriageable types, start out intent on remaining single. But lovers Claudio and Hero spin a web that traps them into wedlock, which Benedick ratializes in the memorable line: "The world must be peopled." Director Langham, in mounting this production, teamed grandly with designer Desmond Heeley of London, England, who has cast the play in a late Victorian setting.

John Horton of Kitchener and London, Ont., made a fine Claudio and Diana Maddox of Montreal a virtuous Hero.
Tony van Bridge of Toronto, blustering Constable Dogberry with a fine flair for using the wrong — high-sounding words, was a gem.

Credit Union Assets Jumped $2.4 Million

Assets of the B.C. Central Credit Union rose from $3,858,904 in 1956 to $6,298,591 in 1957, it was announced at the 14th annual meeting held at Holyrood House today.

The central union is made of 310 credit unions and 14 co-operative organizations throughout the province.

During 1957 it approved 394 applications for loans totalling $13,500,000.

W. J. Dew, president of the central union, announced that, in order to keep pace with expanding business, a Victoria branch office will be opened at 745 View Street on July 2.

Miss Constance McFerran of Vancouver will be Victoria branch manager.

DIVIDEND RULED

Mr. Dew said the directors had recommended a 4 per cent dividend to be paid on a share month basis on all shares in the Central Union paid up at Dec. 31 last.

The recommendation is being debated by union delegates this afternoon.

The directors' report, presented by Mr. Dew, stated that growth of business in the B.C. Central Credit Union in 1957 had exceeded the record of all previous years.

The anticipated level of capital expenditures in Canada for 1958 was $8,520,000,000—only $200,000,000 below the 1957 all-time peak.

In B.C. the anticipated drop from 1957 was $326,000,000—greater percentage-wise than in any other province.

EASIER POLICY

The report recommended that, as long as the business outlook is not encouraging, an easier money policy should be adopted to provide cheaper money and lower interest rates.

This would encourage make-work projects by provincial and municipal governments, including projects which have been delayed because of high interest costs.

B.C. Health Minister Eric Martin addressed the 12th annual meeting of the Credit Union and Co-operative Health Services Society Tuesday afternoon.

He told how public health services save the province millions of dollars in the prevention of disease. As an example, he said the use of diphtheria toxoid had saved B.C. more than $10,000,000 in 1954.

"Salk vaccine has also saved us millions in the prevention of polio," he added.

Hungary Expelled

GENEVA (Reuters)—The 79-nation conference of the International Labor Organization today expelled the Hungarian delegation from the floor.

The action came in a vote on objections that had been raised to the delegation's credentials.

Life memberships were presented to Mrs. Margery Barker and Mrs. Dorothy Whyte at the annual meeting of Victoria Theatre Guild held recently at Langham Court Theatre.

Honor was conferred on the property and wardrobe mistresses for long and faithful service to the Theatre Guild in these capacities.

P. E. George was elected president and Neil Magrath, vice-president. Other officers are Miss Sybil I. MacLean, secretary; Mrs. Madeline Johnson, treasurer; Miss Connie Thompson, production; Mrs. M. C. Trueman, publicity; Don Jacobs, membership; Mrs. D. House, dramatic school; A. Jeeves, maintenance; T. Walton, constitution, and Peter Howell and Mrs. C. E. Morris, members-at-large.

THREE TEACHERS RETIRING at end of present school term represent more than 100 years of service in Victoria schools. They are T. S. Whittemore, left, 39 years, and Miss C. N. Burridge, 44, both of Oak Bay High, and N. M. Simister, 21 years, S. J. Willis Junior High. Presentation was scheduled for today at Oak Bay Beach Hotel for Oak Bay teachers, and Mr. Simister was to be guest speaker at 2 p.m. awards dinner. (Times Photo.)

Trio Charged In Burglary Of City Shop

Three young men charged with a $4,400 safe breaking at Spencer's Stores Ltd., 1420 Douglas, June 15, were remanded in city police court today to July 29 to fix a date for trial.

An application by George Gregory on behalf of one accused for release on his own recognizance or for reduced bail, was rejected by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Bail remains at $2,500 each for Vancouver men David Hargrave and Kenneth L. Wallden, and Victorian Thomas A. McNaughton, 903 Collinson.

DELAY EXPLAINED

Delay in bringing the men to trial was explained by the prosecution as an inability to procure certain evidence before next month.

Speaking on behalf of Wallden, Mr. Gregory said:

"I think it would be a most unfortunate thing if this man is kept in custody for any length of time. He is recently arrived from Great Britain, his family is there and he is unable to raise bail. He has no criminal record."

Lawyer Alan Bigelow appeared for Hargrave, and McNaughton, who is free on bail, was not represented.

Mobile Tourist Information Bureau Formed

A mobile tourist reception and information centre has been established by the Department of Recreation and Conservation to operate in all sections of the province.

The unit is a trailer fitted to display information for tourist promotion.

The department operates the trailer at present at the junction of highways 3 and 96 north of the border port of Kingsgate. In addition, there is a permanent information depot at Douglas and a seasonal office at Cache Creek.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E. C. Westwood said tourist influx indicates a record year for visitors to the province.

LEBANON

Tuesday in the presence of UN observers.

Chamoun said UAR action has made the rebellion a crisis menacing the peace of all the Middle East and Lebanon could not be expected to shoulder the burden alone.

He indicated there was little chance for compromise with the rebels. The insurgents want a regime more friendly to President Nasser of the UAR.

Chamoun said 25 to 30 per cent of the rebel force of between 10,000 and 12,000 were Egyptians or Syrians who have slipped across the frontier.

Some of the rebel leaders have denied access to the border by the fewer than 100 UN observers sent here to look into Lebanon's charges that the UAR was sending men and arms to the rebels.

The Soviet Union, in an official statement, declared itself against any form of intervention from the West, including the turning of the UN observer force into a police force. It charged the United States and Britain were planning intervention in disguise, and warned that the Soviet Union could not remain indifferent.

STRIKE

strials Thursday. He said a joint meeting of all four parties will follow.

Meanwhile it was reported in Vancouver that the federal government has set up a judicial committee to study the CPR strike, but company officials could not confirm the report.

Said one CPR spokesman, "Possibly such a committee could be set up without our knowing it. We don't run the country, you know."

Vancouver Island CLC representative William Gauld said today "bargaining between the company and the unions around a negotiating table is the only way to settle the CPR strike."

STRIKE "LEGAL"

He added he would not "be in favor" of federal intervention. "This is a perfectly legal strike," he said.

He said that if CPR claims inability to pay the SIU demands for a wage increase, "then the union should have the right to ask chartered accountants to go over the CPR books to discover whether this is in fact so."

Earlier Victoria MP A. DeB. McPhillips said that now B.C. had taken over the Black Ball ferry line the emergency had been met and similar federal action with regard to CPR was not required.

Seafarers' business agent Norman Cunningham told The Times there was "no prospect" of an early settlement to the strike.

Merchant Service Guild business agent Capt. Roy Barry said mediator Eric Taylor was "still working very hard" trying to bring about an agreement. Talks between Taylor and the three unions involved continued today in Vancouver.

Ship's Officer In 'Fair' Shape After Big Fall

Third mate of the Panamanian-registered vessel Panagha, who fell 30 feet down a cargo hatch as the ship neared William Head Tuesday noon, was reported in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today. Theodoros Charalampopoulos, 23, suffered a fractured arm, face and back injuries when he backed over a low rail between decks and fell the remaining distance to the bottom of the hold of his ship.

He was examined by Dr. Stanley F. Blundell, William Head quarantine station medical officer, who had just gone aboard for his normal quarantine inspection.

The mate was brought by ambulance to hospital here and the ship continued on its course to Cowichan Bay.

B.E.G. Prexy Explains Rowing Row

MONTREAL (CP)—Jack Davies, president of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Association of Canada, said Tuesday that the makeup of Canada's rowing team at the games in Cardiff next month is 18 competitors plus a manager and a coach.

Davies said he was at a loss to understand reports from Port Dalhousie, Ont., where the trials for Canada's team were held Saturday, saying the team was limited to 18 including the two officials.

He said the figure of 18 competitors plus a manager and a coach was reached two years ago with approval of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

The breakdown of competitors is: eight, plus coxswain; four, three scullers for doubles and singles; two spares.

With Padding, Says Aussie, It Looks Easy

TORONTO (CP)—A six-foot-six former Australian rugby player showed up at Toronto Argonauts rookie camp and asked for a "chance to kick the ball" with the Big Four Football League team.

Jim Davidson of Sydney, who played amateur Rugby Union football and was on an Australian touring team to Ceylon, came to Argo officials several months ago and asked for a try out—preferably as a kicker.

The Argos said he stands little chance of making it as the club's kicker but might catch on as an inferior lineman.

League rules classify him as an import. If he doesn't make the team he probably will be placed in Argo's farm system.

Davidson's comment: "With all this padding, I don't see how you can get hurt."

B.C. Forest Products. All have pleaded not guilty.

Legal argument on the new amended Crown indictment will revolve around the limitation section in the old Criminal Code.

This is a proviso that no one can be penalized for an act of bribery which is more than two years old. It is expected that Prosecutor Dryer will argue this provision is not effective in this case. The remaining conspiracy count would in any case still be punishable on conviction under the old code.

Transfer of the charges to the old code could mean lesser penalties for the accused should they be convicted. The previous indictment under the new code carried a maximum penalty of five years on each of the 38 charges, but the maximums under the old code are one year and $1,000 fine on each bribery count and five or seven years for conspiracy—depending on the legal interpretation of the code.

Mr. Justice Wilson first brought up the question of the "wrong code" Monday. Tuesday he told Prosecutor Dryer he did not see how the Crown could escape transferring the charges to the old code because the accused must be tried under the law as it existed at the time the alleged acts were committed.

He regretted that the point had not been noticed by him sooner, but said counsel must also share that responsibility. And he wanted the public and the jury to know that he was not being "an advocate for the Crown or the defence" in bringing it up, that in fact it was his duty to see that the case was "tried according to the law."

Mr. Bull said he now took the same view as his lordship and added that "I think all of the charges should go."

The Crown Tuesday completed its evidence but Prosecutor Dryer said he would withhold closing his case until argument is completed on the amended indictment.

In 30 days of sitting—there were numerous adjournments—the court has heard more than 40 Crown witnesses and seen the introduction of more than 700 Crown documents.

Earlier Tuesday Mr. Justice Wilson ruled out the appearance of Crown witness—Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of lands and forests who served under Sommers until the latter resigned two years ago. But he warned the defence he would permit the Crown to call him if the defence in its argument should get into the field of policy matters.

The Crown wound up its evidence with three Toronto witnesses, James R. Wright and John Mogg, officials of the Toronto firm of Taylor and Mc-

Dougald, and Kenneth Clark, former reservations manager of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

Wright and Mogg testified about moneys paid through a Toronto firm for travel tickets and hotel accommodation in November, 1953, and Clark testified about certain hotel reservations made at the Royal York at the same time.

Visiting Horsemen from Cowtown To Launch Jaycee Meeting Here

A "posse" of 20 colorful Calgary horsemen will launch the 23rd annual National Junior Chamber of Commerce convention Monday in Victoria.

Advance bookings for the three-day affair at the Empress Hotel promise to make it the biggest in the group's history and, local members confidently predict it will be the most colorful.

The convention is expected to draw Jaycee visitors from all over the United States as well as Canada.

Among the participants will be Jaycee International president Alberto Philippe of Mexico City.

Billed as "the most active traveller in the world," Mr. Philippe has logged more than 150,000 miles in the past year while visiting clubs.

Among those addressing the delegates will be Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who will be a guest at the effective speaking awards luncheon Monday.

Entertainment during the convention will range from conducted tours of scenic spots on the island to a giant party at Sooke featuring Vancouver's Eleanor Collins and demonstrations by Sooke log rollers.

Albums presenting Jaycee projects from all parts of Canada will be on display and a memorial trophy will be presented for the best traffic safety program.

A two-way race for national president is in the offing with nominations in for Jack O'Rourke of Chatham, Ontario, and Robert Gilmour, Ottawa.

Hans Tells What to Do to Ensure Safety, Pleasure Before Long Trip

It is the time of year when vacation travel begins in earnest, and before the summer is out, tens of millions of road-miles will have been chalked up by this nation-on-wheels.

Then will come the inevitable statistics, showing the millions of unnecessary dollars our auto-vacationers will have spent to correct car-breakdowns of various causes en route.

I contend that this represents the most ill-spent money I know of, first of all because every penny of it will have been utterly unnecessary had professional advice been sought regarding the car prior to the trip, and because that money could then have been diverted and made available to the always needed community or private charities of whatever description.

From Experience

I, having now made any number of trans-continental motor-tours, and having just returned from my latest one which added better than 10,000 miles to my car's odometer these past two months, may be permitted to pass on to you my accumulated experience thus practically, and, at times in the past, bitterly gained.

As a first basic step, I know of no $10 per year better spent, automatically, than on a membership in a local affiliate of the AAA — the American Automobile Club. The benefits and privileges inherent are important and manifold (no pun intended), and are beyond the scope of this column to enumerate in detail.

Information may be obtained from the Victoria Auto Club. (I need hardly say that my interest in the club lies solely as a satisfied member of 10 years' standing.)

For Safety's Sake

Now let us see to the car, step by step, and in estimated order of importance: First, we shall want a thorough, professional examination with the best equipment available of those components upon which the safety of the occupants will depend.

These include the braking system, the steering assemblies, the tires—a score of two out of three is not good enough here; the failure of any one of these can, an "will, cause the world's best driver to lose control of the car. An examination of the braking system by a conscientious expert will go far beyond a visual guess as to the amount of brake-lining left; master and wheel-cylinders must be thoroughly inspected and tested, and the wheel cylinders replaced or rebuilt regardless, if the car's age is around the four-year mark or the mileage 40,000, approximately.

One's life should not be trusted to these components beyond those limits—on the other hand, earlier attention to them may often be indicated.

Good Brake Fluid

It is essential that only the highest grade of brake fluid be used, capable of withstanding temperatures of 300 degrees.

In the steering assembly, the slightest evident wear to tie rods warrants replacement, the same in case of the idler arm found on some cars.

I should not like to be you when the two front wheels lose touch with one another and elect to go their separate ways.

The steering gear itself is one of the most durable of all components, and, if it always operated in its housing full of proper lubricant, may need no further attention than an adjustment to eliminate "play."

Balanced Wheels

The final process here must be a minute check and correction of the front wheel geometry—tie-in, castor and camber, plus the balancing—OFF THE CAR, WITH THE HUBS—of the front wheels.

There are cars so sensitive to wheel balance that the small extra cost of balancing the rear wheels as well is worth while.

Like the rest of the modern car, tires have undergone radical improvements as to strength and reliability. Let me assure those of you who may still be doubters that tubeless tires have in fact at least one great advantage over the best of casing-cum-tube combination: there being no internal friction between tube and casing, the tubeless tires run cooler—and heat is one of the worst enemies to a tire.

Tubeless tires, however, depend entirely upon the perfect roundness of the wheel for an air-seal, and so a general rule of thumb may be given here: continue using tubeless tires if your car came so equipped originally, and if there has been no trouble with loss of air pressure; otherwise use tubes.

Air Pressure

In either case, here is one and perhaps the only, instance where I advise you NOT to follow the car—or tire manufacturers' instructions:

I know of no car beyond two-litre capacity which will not materially benefit from a tire pressure of 28 lbs. COLD, no less please, and let no one tell you differently. The tires will last longer, they will run cooler due to reduced flexing, they will not scream in protest around every curve, and you will notice a new crispness and precision in steering control.

I am also satisfied that nylon-cord tires, tube or tubeless, have strength and safety advantages over those of any other type of cord construction.

First-line rayon-cord tires, are, however, acceptable for general medium duty service, but cotton-cord tires are to be avoided at all costs for sustained summer driving at speed.

Do not set out on a hot, fast, long trip the day the new tires were mounted.

For best results the car should be driven for 500-1,000 miles just around town, avoiding sustained high speeds, and only then should they be balanced.

Pen for None But Royalty

The pen with which Princess Margaret will be asked to sign the guest book at Victoria City Hall has been used only by royalty and by the Governor-General of Canada.

A black desk pen with a marble stand, it was used for the first time by the late King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, on May 30, 1939.

The then Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh signed the book on October 22, 1951. Governor-General Vincent Massey used the pen October 15, 1952, and Princess Royal signed on October 18, 1955.

In each case, a special page in the guest book was reserved for the distinguished signatures, with embossed designs framing the handwriting.

POLICE LAUNCH CRACK-DOWN ON ELK BEAVER LAKE REVELLERS

A police crack-down on persons consuming liquor at Beaver-Elk Lakes and littering beaches with rubbish and paper is under way.

A total of 20 persons so far have been charged with consuming liquor in the park.

Eight are scheduled to appear in Saanich police court Thursday. They face fines ranging from $50 to $100.

Deputy Chief Jack Hamilton warned that police will not tolerate people throwing broken bottles in the lake.

"Two children in the last two weeks suffered cuts to their feet from broken bottles," he said. "Rubbish has also been scattered on picnic sites."

He asked the public to co-operate in keeping the park and lake clean of rubbish.

"Rubbish should be placed in incinerators at the park, or better still taken home and disposed of," he said. "Papers should not be left lying around the beaches."

The fine for dumping rubbish in a public place is $200.

Legality of B.C.'s Action On Ferries in Question

Premier Bennett was today accused of "forcing" two unions to co-operate in the provincial government move Tuesday to take over Black Ball Ferries.

The charge was made by an official of one of the unions—the Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild—who asked anonymity pending an official statement Thursday.

He claimed the premier "secured" the two unions' agreement to his take-over move by "a lot of verbal skulduggery and artifice."

"We were forced into the position of signing the premier's blank cheque," the union spokesman told The Times. "We were not at all happy about it. There has been a lot of misunderstanding about that so-called co-operation."

LEGALITY QUESTIONED
The official said the unions were questioning the legality of the Bennett move to keep the ferries running. He added that all shipping is covered by the Canada Shipping Act, which takes precedence, he said, over the provincial Civil Defence Act under which Premier Bennett decided to run the ferry service.

Marine Engineers' business agent E. F. MacLeod said a reply from a firm of Vancouver lawyers on the legality question was expected Thursday noon.

"The B.C. government appears to have gone beyond its authority," Mr. MacLeod said. "It is intruding on a federal matter. What we shall do about this matter will be predicated on the lawyers' report Thursday."

An engineer official said, "As far as we are concerned, this government fiat has stripped us of our democratic right to withhold our skills and labor."

'PRESS-GANG' DAYS
"This is the more remarkable in view of the fact that we never before exercised our right to strike in B.C. Keeping men on ships against their will smacks of the early 19th century press gang."

Black Ball president Col.

George Paulin said today he "understood" both officer unions as well as the Seafarers' International Union agreed to co-operate with Premier Bennett.

"I wasn't present when representatives of the officer unions were meeting with Mr. Bennett," Col. Paulin added, "but I was informed they had agreed to operate the ships under governmental control."

The Black Ball president said the premier's act "cannot be questioned."

"The terms of the Civil Defence Act are very definite," he said. "As far as I understand the terms, the act supercedes all others, even federal ones."

Col. Paulin said Black Ball definitely did not intend to question the legality of the Bennett move.

Victoria Labor Council president Robert Barrie said he could see no objections to the provincial government taking over Black Ball "provided the SIU was in complete agreement with the decision."

Meanwhile rumors that the federal government may order compulsory arbitration in the CPR walkout were discounted this morning by federal labor officials in the absence of the minister, Michael Starr.

Premier Bennett Tuesday called on Ottawa to follow the lead of the B.C. government in the Black Ball dispute.

Ottawa authorities doubted that the federal government would take such a step while Mr. Starr is out of the country. He is expected back in Canada Tuesday.

One official pointed out that the federal government has already "intervened" by appointing Eric Taylor as an industrial inquiries commissioner to mediate the dispute.

Indications are that he has reported there remains an opportunity to mediate the dispute successfully. The Conservative government is reported to have stated it will order compulsory arbitration only as a last resort.

Mr. Taylor said this morning he plans to meet with the SIU, engineers and merchant seamen later today, with CPR officials.

New Firm Bidding For Ferry Service

(See also page 8)

A private shipping concern—other than Canadian Pacific—is dickering with the federal government to operate a fast ferry service between Sidney and the lower mainland, it was indicated Tuesday night.

Victoria MP A. DeB. McPhillips told the annual meeting of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Constituency Association:

"If private enterprise is to take it on, it wants the government to build terminals.

"If the government is to build terminals, it wants assurance the private enterprise will operate the ferry."

"There is a seesaw going on," said Mr. McPhillips. After the meeting, Mr. McPhillips was asked to confirm a report the "private enterprise" is a proposed new shipping firm, rather than the CPR.

"I'm not going to name names," he said. "But there is an extreme likelihood that an entirely different entity might be interested in it."

RUSS THREATEN BOYCOTT OF GENEVA ATOM PARLEY

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia tonight threatened to boycott a Geneva conference of East-West atomic experts next Tuesday unless it receives new assurances from the United States.

A government statement, broadcast by Moscow Radio, said the Soviet Union would not send representatives to a conference if it served as "an act of deception" to the world.

The statement said: "The Soviet government should like to receive from the U.S. government a confirmation of the fact that the purpose of the meeting remains that which was defined in the correspondence between the Soviet government and the U.S. government."

'Send Troops' Lebanese Plea

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy firing broke out in Lebanon late today shortly after the government announced it had asked for an armed United Nations emergency force to seal off the frontier.

President Camille Chamoun said he expected a big rebel push against his government at any hour, but it was too soon to say whether this was it. He also said Lebanese forces had been shelled from Syria.

The heaviest firing was heard in Ghandak Ghamik, on the outskirts of the Basta section of Beirut where rebel forces under former premier Saeb Salam are entrenched in inside barricades.

Shooting broke out in the post office area at about the same time and firing erupted and bombs were exploded in Ashrafiah, the Christian quarter in the eastern part of the capital.

Anti-U.S. Uprising In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — An anti-American demonstration erupted in front of U.S. Embassy today with more than 1,000 angry Russians shouting insults in English and in Russian.

The demonstration started slowly with about 100 persons, mostly youths, gathering in front of the nine-storey building. Within half an hour their numbers had grown to 1,000.

An hour and a half after the start the crowd had grown to about 2,000, but the demonstration appeared to be dying down.

The youngsters shouted and jeered every time any American showed himself at an embassy window, but most of the rest of the crowd appeared to be drifting away.

The embassy had prepared for the expected outbreak by evacuating women employees from the ground floor, ordering U.S. Marine guards to stand by with fire hoses and pushing furniture back from exposed windows.

The demonstration was in retaliation for Hungarian demonstration against the Soviet United Nations Mission Building in New York on Sunday. It followed similar demonstrations against the Danish and West German embassies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Nations bitterly accused the Russian government today of stage-managing the demonstration at the U.S. embassy in Moscow.

The resulting situation, the state department said, "is bound to increase international tension."

B.C. Newspapers Mark 100th Birthday

Today marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of newspapers in British Columbia.

Volume 1, number 1 of the Victoria Gazette hit the streets of old Victoria on June 25, 1858. Publication continued on a twice-weekly basis until Nov. 24, 1859 when the paper folded.

By that time two other papers had taken up the task of informing the public, a task that grew until today 85 newspapers are serving B.C. Combined readership of the newspapers is well over 700,000.

The Gazette was published by J. W. Towne and Co., and edited by H. C. Williston and C. Bartlett. A frail, four-page sheet, it sold for 25 cents a copy.

"The Victoria Gazette is for sale at the Old Salmon House, by Messrs. Riley and Wells, as well as at the public office within the old fort (Victoria) grounds," the masthead stated. It added, future publication would be on Wednesday and Saturday mornings. "Advertisements must invariably be paid for in advance," and an agency would be maintained at San Francisco.

Reading the Gazette took patience and initiative. Where the modern press makes it easy for a reader with large headlines, short paragraphs, interspersed pictures and sub-heads, the Gazette appeared as almost a solid block of fine type.

The front page was given over to a poem, essays on Kaffir women and the Vati-

Legal Offensive Started by Bull

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial entered a crucial stage today with the defence opening a legal offensive for dismissal of the remaining charges against former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers and seven other accused.

Counsel Alfred Bull led off for a battery of six defence lawyers with a motion opposing the transfer of the charges from the new Criminal Code of Canada to the old code.

He submitted that prosecutor Victor Dryer, in doing this Tuesday, had not stayed within the power granted in the code.

Mr. Bull said he would follow this argument with a motion to quash the charges and that when the Crown's case was closed he would move for the dismissal of the charges against his client — Charles D. Schultz and the C. D. Schultz Company — for lack of evidence.

Two-Year Bribe Limitation Claimed

Mr. Bull was followed by Sommers' counsel, Angelo Branca, who argued that the bribery counts remaining against the minister could not hold up because of a lapse of more than two years from the time of the alleged offences until the charges were laid.

He cited the old Criminal Code which carries the two-year limitation.

Mr. Branca argued that it was no offence to give except in the case of an official or an employee of the government, and he submitted that Mr. Sommers was neither.

There followed a discussion on an interpretation of the section and Mr. Justice Wilson said he could not agree with Mr. Branca's view.

Mr. Bull, in his submission, said that in the case of his client the Crown would have to prove direct payments between Schultz and Sommers, and he submitted that with respect to Mr. Schultz and his company there were no direct payments to the former minister.

J. R. Nicholson, counsel for H. W. Gray and the Pacific and Evergreen companies, submitted that even under the amendment shifting the charges to the old code they were still laid under the wrong section.

This view was rejected by his lordship.

Action Follows New Indictment

In a quick sequence of events Tuesday, the Crown agreed with the judge's finding that all charges should be under the old Criminal Code rather than the new code which became effective in 1955.

Prosecutor Dryer then presented a new indictment making this transfer to section 158 of the old code and scaling down the total number of charges from 38 to 25. The new indictment includes only one instead of two counts of conspiracy and 24 instead of 36 counts of bribery.

The prosecution action came after Mr. Justice Wilson decided that the old code alone could not be effective because the alleged acts of the accused were all committed prior to April 1955 when the new code came into effect.

The judge said that no man could be held guilty for an act committed prior to that act becoming punishable under the law.

Charged along with Sommers are H. W. Gray, John Gray,

MAIN DATES

Main dates in the Sommers case are as follows:

Dec. 16, 1955 — Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy appeared before Chief Justice Sloan in Vancouver and made certain allegations against Robert Sommers, then minister of lands and forests.

Dec. 19, 1955 — Robert Sommers entered a suit for libel and slander against Sturdy.

Feb. 17, 1956 — Sommers resigned cabinet post.

Oct. 28, 1957 — Slander suit dismissed 22 months after it started when Sommers failed to appear to press case after court had so ordered him.

Nov. 21, 1957 — Sommers and other defendants arrested on Criminal Code charges of bribery and conspiracy, covering events in 1953 and 1954.

THREE PULLS ON FLUSH CHAIN FOR YOUNGSTERS' 'BRAIN-WASH'

HOVE, Eng. (Reuters) — A new version of "brain-washing" was reported in juvenile court today.

Two boys, aged 10 and 11, were charged with forcing the head of a six-year-old boy into a toilet and pulling the flush chain three times.

Their lawyer said this was the boys' version of "brain-washing"—normally a psychological method used to get confessions—which they had read about in a book.

The youngsters were sent to a juvenile care home for mental examinations.

Signature line of B.C.'s first newspaper contained only large type in complete four-page issue. Modern headlines were unknown.

can. and a delayed report from France that balloonist Gavarin was ready to start a flight to America.

The paper rightly forecast, "The people of the 19th century will not probably have the pleasure of recording the event."

Reflecting the delays involved in the passage of news in wind-jammers around the Horn, was the item which stated two members of the Nova Scotia government went to England seeking aid of the Imperial government in building a railway and effecting a union of Canada and the "Lower Provinces." But it happened "last fall."

There was a note on an envisaged telegraph from Russia to the United States.

Another unobtrusive yarn told of the finding of bodies of miners on San Juan Islands. They had been slaughtered by Indians. There is brief mention of 130 Cog-hole Indians attacking another party of miners near Port Townsend.

Today, events of this nature would set teletypes to clacking around the world. Pictures of the disasters would be wirephotoed within minutes all over the world.

Big Gap to Fill In Trans-Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trans-Canada Highway project, begun in 1950, now has paved highway along 3,036 miles of its 4,327-mile route.

But only 1,707 miles of that road has been paved since the project began. The rest is provincial highway built previously. A progress report on the highway was tabled Tuesday in the Commons by Works Minister Green at the request of CCF house leader Hazen Argue.

It said that up to May 31, a total of $157,494,000 in federal payments went to the nine provinces—all but Quebec—which have joined in the project. Another $53,081,000 in federal funds had been committed for work under way.

Saskatchewan, with 406 miles, is the only province to have completed its section of the road. However, Prince Edward Island has completed all but one of its 71 miles. Alberta, with a 282-mile route, has paved 214 miles and graded another 61 miles and, in fact, has a 289-mile paved highway along the general route—some of it to be reconstructed.

The other provinces, with figures showing how much of the total route in each has been paved under the trans-Canada agreement:

Newfoundland, none of 554 miles; Nova Scotia, none of 311; Brunswick, 78 of 390; Ontario, 434 of 1,436; Manitoba, 246 of 309; British Columbia, 262 of 568.

FEVER CONFIRMED

PRINCE GEORGE—A case of paratyphoid fever has been confirmed here and three suspected cases are under isolation at hospital.

No general vaccination was being considered. Dr. K. J. Benson, medical health officer, said he is confident the disease can be stopped quickly.

Vaccination of all those who came in close contact with the victim has been completed.

DETROIT (AP)—Damages of $225,000 for a man who lost an eye in an industrial accident have been awarded by a United States district court jury. The award, largest ever returned in federal court here, went to Robert Hogue, 38, who lost the sight of his right eye when a piece of flying metal struck him in an explosion at the plant where he was employed.

Pair of Freak Accidents Take Lives of Two Tots

GRAND VALLEY, Ont. (CP)—Sharon Lee Hillis, four, died to death Tuesday after falling across an egg basket which cut her throat. She was knocked over by a toppling bag of grain in her father's barn. Police said she was playing in a grain storage room while her father gathered eggs.

WILLISTON PARK, N.Y. (AP)—Two-year-old Michael Hatem was teetering back and forth on his rocking horse in the family living room Tuesday. Suddenly, he fell off and landed on a curtain rod, lying curved end up on the floor. The rod pierced his eye and brain. He died a few hours later.

Sommers Case Charges Ranged From 1 to 38

VANCOUVER (CP)—The number of charges levelled against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers and other accused in the now celebrated bribery-conspiracy case have ranged all the way from one to a total of 38 since the first indictment was prepared in November last year.

Most of the new indictments boosting the number of charges have been due to defence demands for "particulars" of the counts which led the prosecution to "split up" the charges they already had laid.

Now the number of counts have been reduced to 25, including one conspiracy charge and 24 of bribery.

The latest change was forced on Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer in the 30th-day of the Assize Court trial Tuesday when Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ruled that the old Criminal Code was the effective law and not the new code under which the charges were laid. The new code became effective in April, 1955, but all of the counts against the accused were alleged to have occurred before that date.

FROM 38 TO 25

As a result the prosecutor entered a new indictment reducing the number of counts to 25 from 38. Tossed out were 13 charges involving Sommers as a minister of the government. He remains charged as "an official of the government."

Legal authorities said this was necessary since the old code makes no provision for the charging of a minister as such but under it an "official of the government" is liable for a conspiracy-bribery offence.

Originally in November last year one conspiracy count was laid. Then in January of this year this was increased to six and later was consolidated into five counts.

Then in reply to defence requests for particulars the Crown split its case into 17 charges and when still more particulars were requested split it again into 38 counts—including two of conspiracy and 36 of bribery.

All the accused have pleaded not guilty to the indictment which basically charges a split of moneys between Sommers, H. W. Bray and Schultz in connection with issuance of government timber licences.

LONDON (UPI)—The Duke of Edinburgh's automobile collided with a taxi today as he was on his way from Buckingham Palace to attend a meeting of the Automobile Association, of which he is honorary president.

Nobody was injured. The chauffeur-driven royal limousine and the taxi collided seconds after the duke, accompanied by a palace official and a detective, left the palace. Both vehicles were slightly damaged.

LONDON—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's duck family has walked out on him.

Macmillan became a duck raiser accidentally at his official residence, No. 10 Downing Street, when a pair of mallards settled there two months ago.

In time there were 12 eggs and then 12 ducklings. Then, father duck and one of the ducklings disappeared.

Tuesday the mother rounded up her 11 charges and set out through the traffic for a pond in St. James Park about 100 yards away from No. 10.

Police stopped the traffic and with servants from the Macmillan residence following, the ducks waddled to the pond, plopped in and swam away in single file.

TAVARES, Fla. (UPI)—Officers said when they raided the home of Nathaniel Lee, the bootlegging suspect rushed to a knothole in the floor and poured out the contents of a jug.

But Deputy James L. Yates had been warned of Lee's tactics. Instead of joining the raiders, he had sneaked under the house.

So now Lee is charged with possession of illicit whisky—and officers have evidence collected by Yates, who held a washtub under the knothole.

'Inequities' In Indemnities CCFer Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF MP Frank Howard, whose Skeena constituency embraces about one-third of the land area of British Columbia, says Commons members from far-flung rural areas should get higher parliamentary indemnities.

He said Tuesday in the House budget debate that there are "inequities" in the present structure of parliamentary indemnities, when urban MPs receive the same amount as rural MPs—an $8,000-a-year indemnity plus a $2,000 tax-free expense allowance.

Mr. Howard said members from large rural constituencies such as his own have to spend a great deal of money to get around to the various communities.

The combined area of the Maritime Provinces could be placed twice over in his northern B.C. constituency and still not cover it.

He proposed adjustments in the indemnity based on the size of constituencies. He suggested no formula, but asked that Finance Minister Fleming examine the question.

He also levelled a charge of "insincerity" against Mr. Fleming because the 1958-59 budget contained no income tax cuts.

TO ALL LUMBER WORKERS VOTE FOR STRIKE ACTION

Your Union's District Policy Committee recommends that you vote to authorize strike action on the government-supervised strike vote

BECAUSE:

Your authorization of strike action is now the only means at your disposal to get fair consideration of a decent contract settlement.

Your authorization of strike action will not be given effect until deemed advisable by the District Policy Committee.

Your authorization of strike action confirms your decisive rejection of the majority report of the Conciliation Board which recommended a year's wage freeze, while living costs are rising. It also recommended contract changes which will take away existing contract benefits.

REMEMBER:

➔ Wage settlements for other unions in the province have raised their wage rates as high as 15%.

➔ The Pulp and Sulphite Workers, in the same industry, with the same employers, have a base rate of $1.89 an hour, while it is proposed that the IWA base rate remain at $1.72 an hour. Vancouver street-sweepers get $1.84 an hour.

➔ The rise in living costs has practically wiped out last year's wage increase. A continued rise in living costs is expected rather than any decline.

➔ Productivity per man-day throughout the industry is higher. Fewer workers are producing more. Labour costs per unit of production are less than before the last wage increase.

THE EMPLOYERS ARE ABLE TO PAY A WAGE INCREASE

The employers have made enormous profits in the past, derived from the natural resources of the province. They are continuing to make substantial profits. The market prospects promise them the restoration of their high level profits of past years. Under these circumstances they have the moral obligation to pay the wage increase that will keep their employees abreast of living costs, and reward them for increased productivity.

Market demands are expanding. The pronounced demand shown in the first four months of this year is now showing a further expansion. Home-building programs in the United States and Canada have been launched on a scale that ensures a boom for B.C. lumber. At competitive prices, the sale of B.C. lumber in all export markets is showing a decided upward trend while production and shipping costs have been lowered.

Don't Brand Juveniles, Tory Urges

OTTAWA—What should be done to save an erring youngster from being haunted by a court record the rest of his life?

The House considered this problem Tuesday without coming to any final conclusions. But there was general agreement that a person should not be branded for life because of some wrong act committed in youth.

Gordon Aiken (PC, Parry Sound-Muskoka), a former Ontario juvenile and family court judge, said many of the incidents that bring young people into court "are things that all of us have done, but we have not all been caught."

WOULD DESTROY RECORD

He spoke in debate on a bill sponsored by Noel Dorion (PC, Bellechasse) that would amend the Juvenile Delinquents Act to maintain "absolute secrecy" for the files, reports and records of juvenile trials. It would have such records destroyed five years after the trial.

The bill won support from other Progressive Conservative members, but was debated throughout the four set aside for private members' legislation without a vote. It may come up for discussion again later this session.

Mr. Dorion, a Quebec senior crown prosecutor, said "society has no right to give him, the juvenile, harmful publicity and still less to make him carry a police record through his life like a millstone around his neck."

In his work he had seen "how unscrupulous" some organizations, such as finance investigators, could be in using juvenile delinquency records.

ADVERTISING QUERIED

H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) asked Tuesday whether it is government policy to let certain magazines "exploit the good looks" of cabinet members in what he called an obvious form of overt advertising.

His question referred to magazines controlled from the United States and published in Canada which he said carry photographs of cabinet members and senior civil servants with messages from them.

He did not elaborate, but earlier this session CCF House Leader Hazen Argue questioned the propriety of Time magazine using a picture and a message from Immigration Minister Fairclough in an advertisement of the magazine.

Mr. Herridge said there is a growing irritation among Canadians over this "intrusion of a form of American commercialism into the public life of this country."

External Affairs Minister Smith said that insofar as the question applies to his department "I would make the observation that pulchritude is very frequently an effective medium in international affairs."

He said he wonders whether Mr. Herridge would suggest that "less attractive pictures" be used.

a House committee Tuesday by Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton.

He said in effect the federal government will ensure a reasonable standard for all, but nobody should go north with the idea he is automatically entitled to the living standards he left behind in Toronto or Montreal. "I draw the line at subsidizing," the minister said before the standing committee on mines, forests and waters.

His theme was that the government is vividly aware of the hardships and chafing irritations of life in the north, but the minerals are there, the land can be lived in and there is the romance of adventure.

The House Tuesday approved 27 divorce bills in less than five minutes. They had already been passed by the Senate. There was no debate.

FANFANI ASKED TO FORM GOV'T

ROME, Italy (AP)—Aminore Fanfani was asked by President Giovanni Gronchi today to form a new left-of-centre government.

The 50-year-old former professor of economics at Milan's Catholic University is the leader of the Christian Democratic party, which led in the May general elections.

'Some Right to Be Irritated'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New England senator said today Canadians "have some right to be irritated" with the United States, and called for more attention to economic policies to help improve Canadian-U.S. relations.

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) suggested among other points in a speech prepared for delivery before the Senate that Canada be included in any future inter-American economic conferences aimed at promoting economic growth of the Western Hemisphere.

"At a time like this, when international communism is again showing its teeth, it is well that we take stock of what is going on in the country with which we have the most in common," he said.

Too many Americans need to be "more aware of the common needs and aspirations of the United States and Canada."

Aiken, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, said his suggestions were aimed at easing what he called the irritations that complicate otherwise harmonious relations between the U.S. and Canada.

The Ferries Stay On

PREMIER BENNETT HAS ACT- ed boldly and speedily to keep the Black Ball ferries running between the Island and the Canadian mainland.

His action in seizing the line is probably without precedent among the provinces. It was an extraordinary measure to meet an extraordinary situation and apparently the best he could do under the circumstances.

The unions are to be commended for their good judgment and sense of responsibility in meeting the Government's terms to continue operations at existing wage rates while settlement is being sought on their demands. The company's co-operation is also appreciated.

By this eleventh hour action,

Vancouver Island has been saved from isolation by ship from the Canadian mainland.

But if this is a rescue, it is not a solution to the basic economic problems involved in the earlier strike by the SIU against the Canadian Pacific Coast Service vessels.

Still to be solved for long-term purposes are questions of routes, service, size and type of ships, and costs of operation for links between Victoria and Vancouver or some adjacent British Columbia port.

The wage questions have yet to be settled and the Princess ships remain idle.

Action has been taken only to meet an emergency—risky action that was essential.

Twelve-Mile Limit

A BITTER DISPUTE BETWEEN Britain and Iceland has a special and direct interest for Canada since it arises out of the very policies that the Canadian Government would like to adopt.

Iceland has declared unilaterally that no foreign ships shall fish within twelve miles of its shores. By this order Iceland enforces the regulation which Canada advocated at a recent international conference in Geneva.

The twelve-mile limit was opposed by Britain, the United States and various European countries. Lacking a two-thirds majority, it was defeated. But Iceland is going ahead anyway to assert its control of all fishing waters within a dozen miles of its coast.

Such a prohibition would greatly damage British fishermen who for centuries have fished close to Iceland. The British Government has advised Iceland, in a sharp note, that it will not recognize the twelve-mile limit and will resist any interference with its ships on the "high seas"—that is to say, outside the three-mile limit recognized by most nations throughout the world.

In Canada the outcome of this dispute will be awaited with concern. For the Canadian Government believes that Iceland is right in its assumption that any nation should be able to monopolize the fisheries up to twelve miles from its coast. Mr. George Drew argued strongly for that principle in Geneva, mainly to protect the fisheries off the coast of British Columbia, where Americans are free to fish wherever they please, beyond three miles.

The People Want It

ESQUIMALT COUNCIL'S DECLARATION this week that Christie Point should be reserved as a public park by the Capital Improvement District Commission added one more official voice to a local chorus that has become practically unanimous.

The beautifully wooded peninsula at Craigflower has been saved from one subdivision plan but it could still fall victim to another. The only feasible way in which this waterfront property—almost the last suitable site in the Greater Victoria area—can be saved for public use is through purchase by the Commission, which is empowered to acquire property for this purpose.

Creation of a park at Christie Point is obviously a good project, obviously a needed one and obviously a popular one. The next meeting of the Commission should recommend purchase of the property and the Provincial Cabinet should take early action.

Keep Lakes Safe and Enjoyable

SAANICH COUNCIL IS TAKING formal action to ban float planes from Elk Lake and to restrict, if not forbid, use of that body of water by power boats.

Acting Reeve George Austin has defined the reason for such action in clear terms: "If we are going to have it (the lake) as a recreation park, let's keep it a recreation park and ban planes and power boats."

This attitude reflects the sentiments of a large number of residents in the vicinity of the lake and of thousands more who go to it for outings and swimming.

It is to be hoped the council receives the necessary support to carry through its proposal.

The fact that such action is sought should serve as a warning to float plane and boat owners now using other lakes on the south end of the Island. If they create a nuisance, or, by noise and careless handling, destroy the enjoyment of others at such lakes, they may expect similar public reaction to them.

It is true that this is a mechanical age. It is also true that the high speed power boat has come into its own in recent years and has added immeasurably to the enjoyment of recreation seekers who like the water. But when boat and plane owners interfere with the rights of others and when they become not only a nuisance but a positive danger, it is natural to expect authorities to step in and check their activities in the public interest.

If small plane and boat owners want to enjoy their particular hobbies, they must follow them in locations, and in a manner to avoid intruding too severely on others. If they do not, then control, restriction and complete bans will be enforced upon them.

A little thought and thoughtfulness now may save such people from creating animosities which will inevitably work to their own detriment.

Who'll Buy My Wares?

A REPORT FROM THE INTERNATIONAL fair at Poznan, Poland, indicates that the products of heavy industry are taking a back seat. The crowds of visitors appear more interested, it is said, in consumer goods such as freezers full of food, guitars, chocolate and motor boats.

This is a new departure for Soviet-style exhibitions. Can it reflect an acknowledgment by the authorities that people's real needs are personal rather than industrial, that they would rather buy something they can enjoy than finance a machine which will only be used to make another machine? Can it mean, too, that the people behind the Iron Curtain may hope for a chance to buy such consumer products as well as admire them in the show cases?

Perhaps the American exhibit, featuring blue jeans, color TV and a jazz band, spurred the Communists to a matching effort. But will that effort cease when the TV is turned off, the jeans are folded and the jazz band plays its signature?

TOO GOOD FOR US

By B. A. TOBIN

A Shower in Time

I BELIEVE it was Mark Twain who held that the way to tell a veteran Mississippi resident from a "foreigner" was to confront the person in question with a glass of water from that famous and beloved river. The outsider would drink it carefully, trying not to disturb the layer of sediment at the bottom of the glass. But the true-blue riverman would stir it up with his finger before quaffing. He was going to get it all, even though to a stranger what he was getting was something to avoid.

Tobin

It's something the same with Victorians and their weather. While folks from some parts of the globe can go weeks and even months with unvaryingly hot, sunny weather, your real Victorian gets uneasy when the sun has shone very long. He wants to get his finger in the glass and stir up a little cloudiness, so he'll get the full flavor of his wonderful climate.

The feeling may not even be realized by the native. All he knows is that when the weather has been hot and sunny for an indefinite but nonetheless calculable length of time, he becomes restless and slightly apprehensive.

He will agree with anyone that the weather is glorious, simply delightful, lovely and warm, and aren't we lucky to be having it.

But in the next breath he will worry a little that the garden is drying out, that it's been quite a long time since we had any rain, and that maybe a good downpour is just what we need.

Growing Anxiety

If the good weather persists, it will not be long before your true Victorian is openly worrying. The gardens need a good soaking, he will tell you, the lawns are burning up. His concern for growing things will be touchingly displayed, even though his sole gardening activity is taking care of a patch of grass and a border of perennials.

What he really means, of course, is that he wants the rain for himself. He is tired of this unalloyed goodness in his weather. He is bored with sunlight and fair breezes, with cloudless skies and dry air. What he wants is a good downpour, with the drops pattering on the leaves, the eaves dripping, the roadway puddling and the ditches running with a bountiful surplus.

When that happens, when the hot spell has "broken," as he puts it, the Victorian will breathe a sigh of relief. The tension is eased, things are back to normal, and he can even stand another period of sunshine for a while.

This same characteristic is exhibited in those Victorians who accept good weather with a vague feeling of guilt.

Your Victorian lady will speak with pleasure of a wonderful spring—the warm days, the early flowers, the lengthening evenings. And then she will add, with that undercurrent of anxiety brought on by good fortune: "I do hope we're not going to have to pay for it later on."

It is difficult to explain this attitude. But it is a very real Victorian frame of mind.

Why should we feel that a fine spring must be paid for with a cold and wet summer, that for an especially pleasant summer the gods will exact the toll of a long, hard winter?

There is no explanation. It is just part of being a Victorian.

Do not mistake me. The Victorian will enjoy his good weather. No citizen in the world will make better use of it. With smiles of joy he will take advantage of a hot spell to swim, to play golf, tennis, or a dozen other sports, to go sailing, and above all to enjoy his garden.

Full Use

He may also use the heat as an excuse to retire to the shade of a maple tree or porch and equalize temperatures with a long, cool glass in his hand. He will use his good weather, of that you can be sure.

But when it has gone on for a while there comes a critical moment when suddenly he is waiting for it to end. He won't know it right away, and certainly no observer would know it, but between two ticks of his wrist watch his outlook has changed.

There is no way to measure the length of time needed—the number of days cannot be computed in advance or even accurately determined in retrospect. But at some point in time the switch occurs. From then on there is a growing conviction, which eventually matures to the point of verbal expression, that "what we need is a good shower."

It is a strong instinct and a sure one. Indeed, at certain seasons of the year it becomes a matter of health.

Let there be too long a period without rain and your Victorian will develop coughs, sneezes, wheezes and a host of minor ailments. He will regard the dusty gutters and dry street drains with distrust, seeing germs and disease in their desiccated depths.

The Cure-All

"We need a good rain to fix all this," he will declare with conviction—and have you ever noticed how often the adjective "good" is used with the noun "rain" by Victorians?

Sooner or later he gets his wish. The skies cloud up, the grey masses creep lower, a cool draught from the ocean strikes the warm air and down she comes.

The Victorian smiles with pleasure. He hears the rain patter on the trees and shingles, he smells the sharp ozone-like tang as the drops hit the warm pavement or make moist circles on the dusty path.

Soon the puddles are shining and little run-off streams are gurgling. The air is cool and fresh, the countryside is green. Your Victorian quickly recovers from his good weather and is relaxed and happy again.

As Our Readers See It

Quite a Prophet

In a recent letter Mr. H. V. O'Reilly states that in 1,000 years' time, only two Englishmen now living will be remembered: Earl Russell, or, as I think he prefers to be called, Mr. Bertrand Russell, and Sir Winston Churchill.

If he is able to give not only the number of these immortals, but also their names, Mr. O'Reilly is a prophet of no mean order. And if the first part of the prophecy is true, it would seem that our world is indeed destined to enter an age of darkness, in spite of the efforts of Mr. O'Reilly and two or three other correspondents of this department to avert such a catastrophe.

However, if only two are to be remembered, I do not think that one will be a philosopher. I suppose that no one who knows of his accomplishments will doubt Mr. Bertrand Russell's intellectual stature, but few people are interested in philosophy. I have seen a double lecture room well filled in the fall for a course of weekly (free) lectures on the elements of metaphysics. After a time one room was shut off, and in the spring term the attendance had dropped to a handful.

The connotation of ethical terms when used by determinists like Mr. Bertrand Russell, is not the same as when used by most other Occidentals. I do not know whether Mr. O'Reilly is a determinist. If he is not, there is a fundamental difference between his views and those of Mr. Bertrand Russell; if he is, he may pity his errant fellow-mortals, but surely he cannot reasonably blame them.

The Uncashed Cheque

THE central but still half-concealed future of the Lebanese situation is what amounts to an uncashed certified cheque in the desk of President Camille Chamoun. Figuratively speaking, the cheque is marked "good for a landing of Anglo-American military forces to defend Lebanon's independence."

It was written by the British and American governments, after only 24 hours of agonized consultation, at the very outset of the Lebanese civil war. At that time, a major condition was attached to the cheque. Before it could be cashed, the Lebanese government was required to complain to the United Nations about the attack upon its independence that has been organized by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser and his Syrian viceroy, Abdel Hamid Serraj.

Lebanese President Chamoun and his stout prime minister, Samy El Solh, were and are reluctant to cash the cheque. Their reluctance was sufficiently indicated by the very long interval between the outbreak of fighting in this unhappy little country, and the presentation of Lebanon's complaint to the UN Security Council.

The equal reluctance of the British and American governments to have the cheque cashed was indicated by what then transpired in the UN Security Council. One wonders, indeed, whether the Swedes were not stimulated to present their resolution, calling for UN observers to go to Lebanon.

By any sensible test, this kind of UN intervention is highly unlikely to produce any good result. Maybe the personal diplomacy of UN secretary Dag Hammarskjöld will bear some sort of fruit, although this also seems unlikely.

The point is that the foreign interference in Lebanon's affairs has already occurred. The arms, the money and something like 2,000 Syrian and Egyptian officers, soldiers and trained specialists in terrorism have already crossed the Lebanese borders. UN border control is hardly feasible, and it can only limit the problem and can not possibly solve it.

The American and British governments must have understood all this very clearly when they so eagerly accepted the Swedish resolution. They must have wanted to buy a little more time during which "something might turn up." The spirit of Mister Micawber was behind this move, in fact.

Here in Lebanon, meanwhile, the American and British embassies have been trying to make something turn up, while simultaneously seeking to delay the cashing of the cheque.

The efforts to make something turn up have chiefly taken the form of direct and indirect appeals to the Lebanese army commander, Gen. Shehab, to make a more serious effort to repress the rebellion.

The massiveness of the foreign intervention, plus the large number of centres of revolt, have quite possibly combined to make a problem that is beyond the resources of Lebanon's 9,000-man army. All the same, a suspicion that Gen. Shehab is not making an intense military effort is surely justified.

Day of Rest

One Sunday, for example, when the fighting here in Beirut looked like it was getting out of hand, the able-American ambassador, Robert McClintock, had to go to the general's country villa to find the army commander and ask his intentions. When he got there, the general greeted him with the amiable explanation that "Sunday was a day of rest."

By the same token, after the rebels in Beirut had looted and burned the house of Prime Minister Samy El Solh, a few short rounds landed on the fortress-like house in the old city that is occupied by the leader of the rebels here, slippery Saeb Salam.

Saeb Salam's telephone is in full working order. He used it to telephone the army chief of staff and to protest, apparently successfully, against the breach of etiquette from which he had just suffered.

Hence it seems improbable that Gen. Shehab will lead a major charge against the rebel barricades. All the same, American and British influence has been steadily applied, throughout the past week, to defer the cashing of the cheque that President Chamoun holds.

Daily Discussion

The first indications that the Lebanese government was considering an appeal for Anglo-American military intervention were received a week ago, when the fighting in Beirut city took such a sharp turn for the worse. Since then, the question of the uncashed cheque has been under almost continuous discussion.

President Chamoun has been given official assurances by the American embassy that the cheque's validity has not been affected by the UN presence here. So the cheque can still be cashed at any time. It is payable on demand, unless of course the hesitations and delays finally produce a situation in which President Chamoun is actually unable to present the cheque at the bank.

What's to Do With Balloons?

What shall we do with the Centennial balloons? Send 'em back to Vancouver? Express 'em back to London? Or just quietly sink 'em in the Strait of Juan de Fuca? This is a game everyone can join and the Times invites its readers to express their views.

City engineer's department has been wrestling with the problem for weeks and weeks, and weeks.

Up go six balloons, inflated.

Next morning its four down, two up.

Then eight up. Next morning six up, two down.

Plastic covers, pumping, patching—everything seems to have failed.

Since the downtown merchants, not the public, paid for the balloons the game might be a bit unfair, but it would be rather fun.

The Times today offers a prize for the best solution of the balloon problem.

The prize? You guessed it, a deflated balloon—if the committee will donate it.

A bull sea lion weighing several hundred pounds startled fishermen, holidayers and ferry travellers Sunday morning by lolling in the sun for five hours in an open boat.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Raue, proprietors of Francis Fishing Resort at Mill Bay, saw the huge beast at 7.30 a.m., comfortable as you please in a 14-foot boat belonging to Oak Bay fireman Harold H. England, 1000 Foul Bay Road.

The boat was moored a few yards off shore, and the sea lion apparently had climbed aboard over the side, since there was considerable water in the boat.

For a while he sat at the stern. Later he was seen at the wheel. For almost two hours he lay on the small deck at the bow, basking in the sunshine and dangling his flippers in the water.

Patrons at the resort watched goggle-eyed, and Mill Bay ferry captains, when they learned of the sea lion's carry-on, detoured their vessels by a few yards to let their passengers take pictures.

At 12.30 p.m., after having satisfied himself as to what those odd-looking animals with white skin do in boats, he slipped over the side.

"Every now and then he'd snuffle and snort," Mrs. Raue said. "He didn't seem to mind people watching him."

Mr. Raue said the animal broke nothing, and even scrambled over an 18-inch windshield to the bow of the boat without causing damage.

"Every now and then he'd poke up his head and look around, then settle back in solid comfort," he said.

Although there was no breakage, the boat was in a "mess," Mrs. England said today.

"But the sea lion brought good luck," she said. Next time out my husband caught a 21-pound salmon."

Yale University Names Victorian As Instructor

Peter Smith, son of retired Victoria High School principal Harry Smith, has been given an instructor's post in Yale University classics department for the coming 1958-59 session.

Recently granted his doctor's degree in classics at Yale, Peter was gold medalist at University of B.C. in 1953, and prior to that was the leading student in this province in senior matriculation for university entrance.

HIGH ON LEWIS REEF, SEINER WORKED LOOSE

The Vancouver seine boat Dorbarth was worked loose from Lewis Reef, near Discovery Island, at high tide Tuesday evening after going hard aground at 1 a.m.

The fishboat, with owner-skipper Julius Barth aboard, came off under her own power. She was thought to be in danger at low tide, around 3 p.m., and Mr. Garth wirelessed for aid.

A B.C. Pilotage launch and a fisheries patrol vessel answered the call and stood by until danger of rolling over was past.

Dorbarth was returning from fishing grounds near Port Renfrew, bound for Vancouver, when she slid onto the reef at low speed. The steel-hulled, 50-foot vessel sustained no damage.

Saanich Refuses To Hire Outsiders

Saanich Municipality today rejected a union demand that carpenters be hired in place of staff employees for construction work at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

Outside staff employees were ordered to continue alterations to two former army huts to be added to existing hall to provide more office space.

LOCAL PROTESTED

The municipality's action follows a protest from Local 1598 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

The union claims it has jurisdiction over all construction work in the Greater Victoria area.

The union threatened to picket the hall if the municipality refused to hire union carpenters.

At a meeting of the finance committee Tuesday, Roy Wooten, spokesman for the Saanich Municipal Employees' Association, said staff workers won't tolerate any "interference from the carpenters' union."

He said if the carpenters place a picket line at the hall, members of the municipal employees union won't respect it.

"We will walk across it and take an injunction against the carpenters," he said.

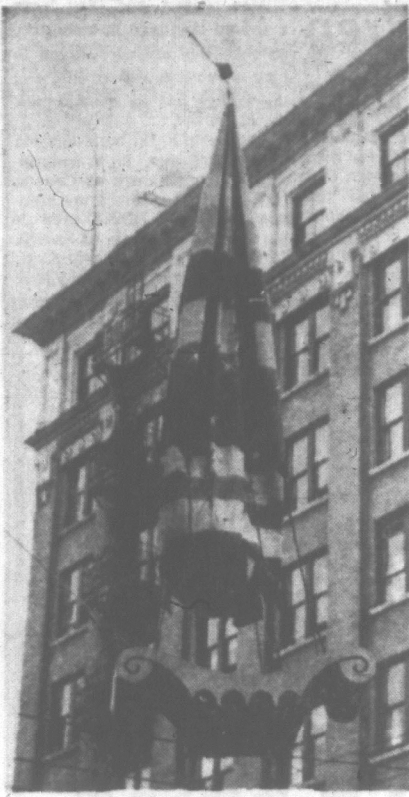

JURISDICTION CLAIMED

Staff workers, he said, had jurisdiction over all municipal construction.

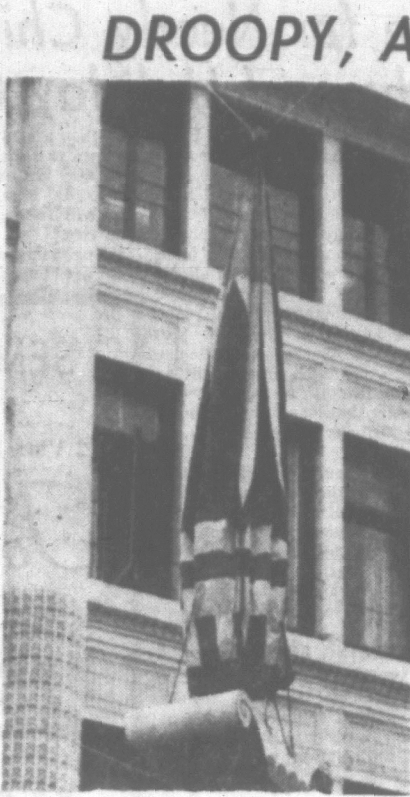

He charged craft unions with trying to split and break-up municipal employees' unions in the province.

The work on the army huts, he said, came under the charter of his association, and in previous jurisdictional disputes the

City Man Guilty In Liquor Case

Victoria service station operator John Thomas Pepler, 37, of 421 Kingston, was convicted in city police court today for possession of $1,750 worth of liquor stolen at Sidney May 24.

He was remanded to July 3 for probation report and sentence.

Defence counsel Kenneth Murphy asked for the probation report in view of Pepler's "long mental history" as well as criminal record.

TWO VITAL POINTS

In finding the accused guilty Magistrate H. C. Hall referred to two main points in the evidence which he said played an important part in the decision.

The points upset the defence stand that Pepler was unaware the liquor was stolen, although during the trial the defence admitted the liquor, found in Pepler's service station, was stolen.

Three days after the theft, Alythe Adeyson Hulbert, 23, and Richard Verdier Rowinson, 21, both of 327 Niagara, pleaded guilty to the theft and were each sentenced to two years less a day in jail.

Liquor was stolen during the night of May 23-24 from the provincial government liquor store at Sidney.

"That same morning," said Magistrate Hall, "that liquor was found in your garage in the city. There is no defence or no submission offered (in this respect)."

"It was admitted the liquor was stolen."

"You were around from time to time while the liquor was being placed in the garage. You deny you knew the liquor was stolen."

Sunshine To Return On Thursday

Cloudy skies Thursday morning will give way to "a fair amount" of sunshine in the afternoon, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"We have had our surge of moisture, and the air should continue to dry," he said.

Temperatures will range between 54 and 68 degrees, he said, and winds will be light and from the west.

The minor collision occurred on Oak Bay, 50 minutes after the driver was stopped on Esquimalt for speeding.

FOREST CLOSURE STAYS ON ISLAND

Help by Rain Not Enough

Travel and restricted industrial forest closures remain in effect today throughout Vancouver Island and the Vancouver Forest District generally.

Forestry officials said at noon, the recent rains helped, but not enough to get most of the soaking.

"There will be no lifting of the closure unless there is more rain and the forecast is for sunshine. We hope it can be lifted for the weekend, however."

FIRES QUIET

All Vancouver Island fires, including the largest at Gold River are "quiet" and controlled. The Gold River area was heavily overcast at noon and there was hope of rain.

Worst trouble area in B.C. is still the Prince George Fire District where high winds have encouraged flames. Over 40 fires are burning.

FIREMAN'S CAR LISTENED TO, JUMPS AT HIM

The fates and Harry Marion's car conspired to keep him from going to work today.

Marion, a city fireman going on shift at the main fire hall, heard an unusual noise in the engine of his car as he parked under a hose-drying tower at the rear of the hall.

Leaving the engine running, he stepped in front of the car to listen, the car moved ahead and pinned him to the tower, injuring his leg.

Fellow firemen rushed him to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Public works crews today began construction of a canopy on the Legislative Building steps which will shield Princess Margaret during ceremonies here during the July royal visit.

Department officials said miniature flagpoles which recently were removed from the lawn because of vandalism, will be returned before the princess's arrival. Decorations which are sun-faded after months of exposure on the front walls of the buildings may also be "freshened up."

Saanich Voters' Association announced today it is opposed to the use of Elk Lake by aircraft and speedboats.

It noted that regattas and other forms of organized display would not be opposed by the association.

Juveniles are suspected of breaking into Gordon Fish Auto Parts, 1319 Quadra, Tuesday night where police discovered entry by means of a skylight.

Two glasses and two empty pop bottles used by the culprits were found in the premises and a flashlight stolen from the shop was found on the roof next to the skylight.

A model of an early British Columbia Cariboo district gold mine will be placed on display this week at the Department of Mines, Douglas Building.

It has been displayed recently at the Pacific Northwest scale, working model of the Mucho Oro mine, it was built by Victoria hobbyist, John Smyly.

Victoria police commission today approved purchase of three radios at a cost of $3,000 for use on motorcycles.

Elizabeth Baess of Royal Victoria Yacht Club placed third in the Pacific Northwest district Adams Cup women's sailing championships held at Lake Washington Monday and Tuesday.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Would you please tell me the meanings of the words Nanaimo, Cowichan and Qualicum? D.M.M.

A. Nanaimo is derived from sue-ny-mo meaning "the whole" or "a big strong tube." Cowichan means "mountain warming its back on the snow" while Qualicum means "the place the dog salmon run." All are, of course, of Indian derivation.

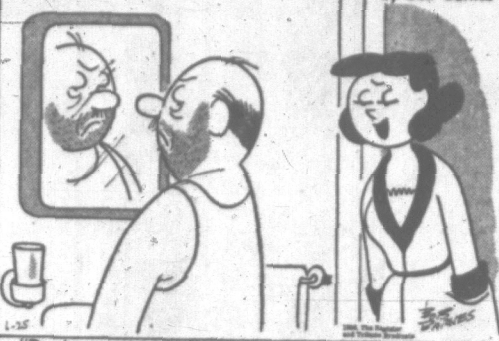

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answers will be published daily.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Most Canadians find their pennies shrinking in these days of high prices, but a Regina, lady has discovered how to make pennies stretch . . . all the way to Korea. Her donation to the Unitarian Service Committee at 78 Sparks Street in Ottawa, "From a working gal who has to stretch pennies, but knows how lucky we Canadians are."

Each penny of her donation will grow to many dollars worth of comfort to hungry, sick children.

An empty seat on a CPR train from Montreal to Magog, Que., one night in December, has meant life to a sick child in Korea. The empty seat belonged to a Quebec lady, who lent the rebate on the ticket she did not use to the Unitarian Service Committee office at 78 Sparks Street in Ottawa. Her ticket rebate money will be used, as she requested, to buy life-giving powdered whole milk for children in hospitals and orphanages in the suffering and hungry land of Korea.

It is healthier to cut out between-meal snacks of gooey desserts than to stop eating meals when trying to lose or maintain weight. Teen-agers, especially, need basic foods for future health and happiness. Eat adequate breakfast, lunch and dinner and avoid snacks. To maintain energy between meals drink a glass of milk or fruit juice.

Swiss Village for Needy Children

TROGEN, Switzerland (CP)

At first glance the group of wooden houses and high-spirited children look like a holiday camp. But the Pestalozzi children's village, high up among the hills in the German-speaking Appenzel region of Switzerland, permanently houses 230 needy children from Britain, Austria, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Switzerland and Hungary.

They are cared for and educated in a family atmosphere, and mingle with children of other nations, in the hope that they will understand and appreciate their ways of life.

The aims of the village are described by the Swiss founder Walter Corti: "The children's village is a place to meet and co-operate, a centre of mutual understanding beyond all national, religious and linguistic barriers." Corti, editor of the magazine Du, launched an appeal in 1944 to raise a "village for suffering children," and, backed by a group of enthusiasts the village came into being two years later. It is supported by voluntary contributions, two-thirds Swiss and one-third from other nations. Originally intended only for war orphans, the Pestalozzi centre now takes distressed children from all nations who stay for an educational training on several years.

It is named after the 19th century Swiss educationist, Pestalozzi, who dreamed of an experimental school where "heart, head and hand" should be equally appreciated and trained.

Each house contains 19 children of the same nationality, enabling them to maintain their own language, traditions, culture and religion. The individual groups are under the care of three educators including married couples who act as house parents.

TEACHING PROGRAM

While mornings are reserved for national teaching, the nationalities mingle at international courses in the afternoons. The children generally stay until they are 16 and the village assumes responsibility for them until they are able to earn their living. It is anticipated that they will return to their home countries.

In primary school, the children are taught German, the village tongue, and they learn a second language in secondary school. They are encouraged to play a musical instrument and the village has its own orchestra of 20.

Among the 18 buildings on the 25-acre site, is a community building known as Canada Hall, a gift in part from Canada through UNESCO and in part from the people of Zurich. It is used as a gymnasium and as a meeting and concert hall.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Need Willpower For Successful Dieting

A letter on my desk says, "I am much overweight and need to diet but LOVE to eat. Please tell me what to do. I am so unhappy this way."

Print the word "Willpower" in letters on a strip of paper or cardboard and paste it over the mirror in your bedroom. The dictionary defines "will" as "choice" or "determination". It defines "power" as "capacity for action"—to use powers in an effort to succeed. So we find that willpower means the choice to use our powers to succeed.

I like this definition because there is no use beginning to diet until you actually have made a choice, until you have sincerely chosen to use your powers to succeed. The resolve must be real. You must KNOW that you will not backslide.

You actually must choose between the figure you have now and the dieting which is necessary for the figure you want. If your wish is strong enough, you will be able to realize it. Many men and women have played about with diet for years without any lasting success. Then some physical condition has caused their doctors to order them to reduce for health, and sometimes to save their lives. They have then done so and have remained at their ideal weight for the rest of their lives. You have to have a strong incentive.

Today we all have one! We know that overweight shortens life and makes us more susceptible to the diseases of middle and older age. Add this to the discomfort of overweight and the beauty angle and you will receive a powerful prodding.

However, willpower which has been weakened by lack of use can profit by a little help. Here are a few suggestions.

Decide on a short reducing period. After that set another period. In other words, break a long reducing haul up into shorter periods and concentrate on each as it arrives.

Do not break over your diet at all. If you once begin to fail, you are almost certain to fail.

Keep celery and carrot sticks to nibble on in-between meals, or save a glass of milk or some fresh fruit for in-between-meal snacks. Of course these must be counted in on your daily calorie allowance. Eat slowly. It is a scientific fact that this makes dieting easier.

If you missed my 9-day diet, which gives you a loss of 5 to 10 pounds in nine days time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the 9-day diet booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Railway Plans Special Cars In Pastel Shades for Ladies

It will be interesting to see how women take to a "segregation" idea advanced by an American railroad company. Plans are to install "four ladies only" cars, in soft shades of pink and grey, on the commuter trains running between Newark, N.J., and New York city. "Some of the railroads have the men's club cars," said a railway official. "One airlines has special flights for male executives only. I think it's high time somebody gave a little attention to the comfort of the ladies."

CANOE ARRIVE AT BOSTON BAR

Stiff Winds Slow Fraser Brigade

BOSTON BAR, B.C. (CP) —The Fraser Brigade, paddling hard against the stiffest winds they've encountered in a month of re-enacting Simon Fraser's voyage down the Fraser River, landed at this tiny river community Monday night.

For five miles before the landing, groups of people were clustered on the high banks to watch the colorful crews' progress against winds that blew the canoes here and there on the river.

Some 100 people watched the landing about two miles below Boston Bar, then brigade and spectators went into the hamlet of 250 for a short ceremony.

Standout attractions there were the band of the Royal Canadian Engineers from Camp Chilliwack and the changing of the guard between a group of Britain's Royal Engineers and a similar number of Royal Canadian Engineers.

The Royal Engineers are of the same regiment that came to B.C. in 1858 and in five years laid the foundations of the province. They appeared in the scarlet-coated, tight-troused uniforms of the day, with ancient oval-boled lancester rifles.

The brigade now will portage the 29 miles between Boston Bar and Yale, which includes the famous Hells Gate and other treacherous canyons.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sandra Krause, aged 11, of Omaha, Neb., for her question:

How Do One-Celled Animals Reproduce?

There are countless varieties of these one-celled creatures sharing our world. They are as different from one another as are whales and mice, birds and tigers. The largest of these mites is just big enough for our eyes to see as a pale, hazy dot. Most of them measure several thousands to the inch.

Together, the one-celled creatures make up the huge Protozoa group of animals. Protozoa means the first animals and protozoa are classed in phylum I of the animal kingdom. There are so many of them and they come in so many varieties that some zoologists suggest giving the little fellows a whole animal kingdom to themselves. These experts would class all one-celled animals in phylum I and all the other animals in various subdivisions of phylum II.

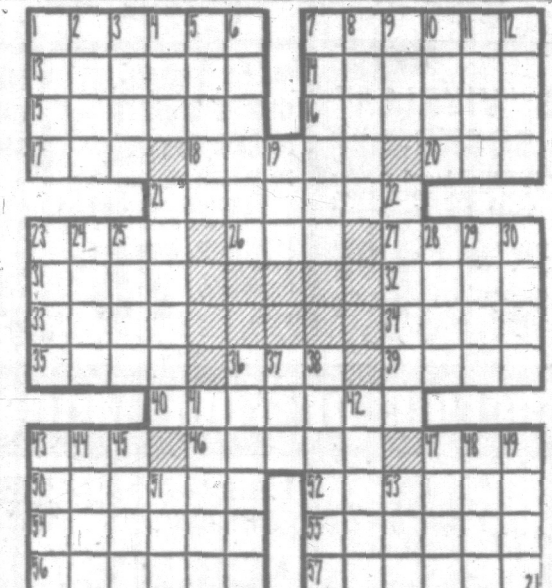

The tiny mites are everywhere. They live in salt water, fresh water, and in the soil. Some live in the bodies of larger animals. Each variety of protozoa has its own method of life, of eating and of moving around. For all of them must eat and breathe, most of them

The body of a protozoan is a blob of jellylike protoplasm. Somewhere in this jelly is a more solid spot known as the nucleus. This nucleus seems to control the life forces of the cell. When it is removed, the little cell can keep growing and even take food. But it cannot digest it and it perishes when its stored food is used up.

The nucleus is the vital factor in the reproduction of the protozoan. For it is the nucleus which first divides into two identical parts. Some protozoa have a large nucleus and a smaller one. In this case, both divide. The new nuclei then move to opposite ends of the cell. The blob of jelly develops a waist which gets slimmer and finally breaks. The original cell has become two cells.

No protozoan gets old and dies. When times are good it

'Send Troops'
Lebanese Plea

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Heavy firing broke out in Lebanon late today shortly after the government announced it had asked for an armed United Nations emergency force to seal off the frontier.

President Camille Chamoun said he expected a big rebel push against his government at any hour, but it was too soon to say whether this was it. He also said Lebanese forces had been shelled from Syria.

The heaviest firing was heard in Ghandak Ghamik, on the outskirts of the Basta section of Beirut where rebel forces under former premier Saeb Salam are entrenched inside barricades.

Shooting broke out in the post office area at about the same time and firing erupted and bombs were exploded in Ashrafiah, the Christian quarter in the eastern part of the capital.

CALM BROKEN

Machine-guns, mortar fire, dynamite bombs and small arms fire could be heard as the rebels and security forces exchanged fire.

The fighting broke a long day of unusual calm in Beirut. The rebels had called a truce during the visit of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld here to try to bring peace to the troubled Middle East nation. The shooting broke out shortly after he left by plane for New York.

Even as firing broke out rebel leader Salam told reporters that the rebels would resist any increase in UN forces in Lebanon. "If the number of United Nations forces should be increased we will consider this an international intervention and aggression, and we will resist it as we would any aggression," Salam said.

Salam was commenting on a statement by Premier Sami Salh that he had asked Hammarskjöld for a UN force "to seal off completely Lebanon's frontiers" with the Syrian province of President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

President Camille Chamoun told a press conference the shelling from Syrian soil took place.

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia tonight threatened to boycott a Geneva conference of East-West atomic experts next Tuesday unless it receives new assurances from the United States.

A government statement, broadcast by Moscow Radio, said the Soviet Union would not send representatives to a conference if it served as "an act of deception" to the world.

The statement said:

Anti-U.S. Uprising
Erupts in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—An anti-American demonstration erupted in front of U.S. Embassy today with more than 1,000 angry Russians shouting insults in English and in Russian.

The demonstration started slowly with about 100 persons, mostly youths, gathering in front of the nine-story building. Within half an hour their numbers had grown to 1,000.

An hour and a half after the start the crowd had grown to about 2,000, but the demonstration appeared to be dying down.

The youngsters shouted and jeered every time any American showed himself at an embassy window, but most of the rest of the crowd appeared to be drifting away.

The embassy had prepared for the expected outbreak by evacuating women employees from the ground floor, ordering U.S. Marine guards to stand by with fire hoses and pushing furniture back from exposed windows.

Legal Question
Raised by Unions
On Ferry Action

Premier Bennett was today accused of "forcing" two unions to co-operate in the provincial government move Tuesday to take over Black Ball Ferries.

The charge was made by an official of one of the unions—the Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild—who asked anonymity pending an official statement Thursday.

He claimed the premier "secured" the two unions' agreement to his take-over move by "a lot of verbal skulduggery and artifice."

"We were forced into the position of signing the premier's blank cheque," the union spokesman told The Times. "We were not at all happy about it. There has been a lot of misunderstanding about that so-called co-operation."

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

The official said the unions were questioning the legality of the Bennett move to keep the ferries running. He added that all shipping is covered by the Canada Shipping Act, which takes precedence, he said, over the provincial Civil Defence Act under which Premier Bennett decided to run the ferry service.

Marine Engineers business agent E. F. MacLeod said a reply from a firm of Vancouver lawyers on the legality question was expected Thursday noon.

"The B.C. government appears to have gone beyond its authority," Mr. MacLeod said. "It is intruding on a federal matter. What we shall do about this matter will be predicated on the lawyers' report Thursday."

An engineer official said, "As far as we are concerned, this government flat has stripped us of our democratic right to withhold our skills and labor."

'PRESS-GANG' DAYS

"This is the more remarkable in view of the fact that we never before exercised our right to strike in B.C. Keeping men on ships against their will smacks of the early 19th century press gang."

Black Ball president Col. George Paulin said today he "understood" both officer unions as well as the Seafarers' International Union agreed to co-operate with Premier Bennett. "I wasn't present when representatives of the officer unions were meeting with Mr. Bennett," Col. Paulin added, "but I was informed they had agreed to operate the ships under governmental control."

The Black Ball president said the premier's act "cannot be questioned."

"The terms of the Civil Defence Act are very definite," he said. "As far as I understand the terms, the act supercedes all others, even federal ones."

Col. Paulin said Black Ball definitely did not intend to question the legality of the Bennett move.

Prosecutor Erred
Bull Tells Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial entered a crucial stage today with the defence opening a legal offensive for dismissal of the remaining charges against former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers and seven other accused.

Counsel Alfred Bull led off for a battery of six defence lawyers with a motion opposing the transfer of the charges from the new Criminal Code of Canada to the old code.

He submitted that prosecutor Victor Dryer, in doing this Tuesday, had not stayed within the power granted in the code.

Mr. Bull said he would follow this argument with a motion to quash the charges and that when the Crown's case was closed he would move for the dismissal of the charges against his client — Charles D. Schultz and the C. D. Schultz Company — for lack of evidence.

Two-Year Bribe Limitation Claimed

Mr. Bull was followed by Sommers' counsel, Angelo Branca, who argued that the bribery counts remaining against the minister could not hold up because of a lapse of more than two years from the time of the alleged offences until the charges were laid.

He cited the old Criminal Code which carries the two-year limitation.

Mr. Branca argued that it was no offence to give except in the case of an official or an employee of the government, and he submitted that Mr. Sommers was neither.

There followed a discussion on an interpretation of the section and Mr. Justice Wilson said he could not agree with Mr. Branca's view.

Mr. Bull, in his submission, said that in the case of his client the Crown would have to prove direct payments between Schultz and Sommers, and he submitted that with respect to Mr. Schultz and his company there were no direct payments to the former minister.

J. R. Nicholson, counsel for H. W. Gray and the Pacific and Evergreen companies, submitted that even under the amendment shifting the charges to the old code they were still laid under the wrong section.

This view was rejected by his lordship.

D. McK. Brown, counsel for B.C. Forest Products, argued that the limitation section of the old code was in no way merely a technical matter of procedure, but a matter of substance and therefore should apply.

E. E. Hinkson, counsel for John Gray, associated himself with the objections to the amendment, made by other defence counsel and submitted that there was no evidence to show any direct payment made by his client to Sommers.

The involved points of law were argued in the absence of the jury. However, Mr. Justice Wilson had directed Tuesday that members of the jury could attend this morning's sitting if they so wished. None appeared.

Crown Prosecutor Victor Dryer began his rebuttal of the defence submissions and contended that the limitation section of the old code deals with procedure, and that it was a matter that would be "governed by the law in force at the time the matter came to trial."

Action Follows New Indictment

In a quick sequence of events Tuesday, the Crown agreed with the judge's finding, that all charges should be under the old Criminal Code rather than the new code which became effective in 1955.

Prosecutor Dryer then presented a new indictment making this transfer to section 158 of the old code and scaling down the total number of charges from 38 to 25. The new indictment includes only one instead of two counts of conspiracy and 24 instead of 36 counts of bribery.

The prosecution action came after Mr. Justice Wilson decided that the old code alone could not be effective because the alleged acts of the accused were all committed prior to April 1955 when the new code came into effect.

The judge said that no man could be held guilty for an act committed prior to that act becoming punishable under the law.

Charged along with Sommers are H. W. Gray, John Gray, Charles D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services Limited, Evergreen Lumber Sales and

New Firm Bidding
For Ferry Service

(See also page 8)

A private shipping concern—other than Canadian Pacific—is dickering with the federal government to operate a fast ferry service between Sidney and the lower mainland, it was indicated Tuesday night.

Victoria MP A. DeB. McPhillips told the annual meeting of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Constituency Association:

"If private enterprise is to take it on, it wants the government to build terminals."

"If the government is to build terminals, it wants assurance the private enterprise will operate the ferry."

"There is a seesaw going on," said Mr. McPhillips. After the meeting, Mr. McPhillips was asked to confirm a report the "private enterprise" is a proposed new shipping firm, rather than the CPR.

"I'm not going to name names," he said. "But there is an extreme likelihood that an entirely different entity might be interested in it."

His remarks strengthened recent reports a new passenger service is being studied by a group of Victoria investors.

Big Gap to Fill In Trans-Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trans-Canada Highway project, begun in 1950, now has paved highway along 3,036 miles of its 4,327-mile route.

But only 1,707 miles of that road has been paved since the project began. The rest is provincial highway built previously.

A progress report on the highway was tabled Tuesday in the Commons by Works Minister Green at the request of CCF house leader Hazen Argue.

It said that up to May 31, a total of $157,494,000 in federal payments went to the nine provinces—all but Quebec—which have joined in the project. Another $53,081,000 in federal funds had been committed for work under way.

Saskatchewan, with 406 miles, is the only province to have completed its section of the road. However, Prince Edward Island has completed all but one of its 71 miles. Alberta, with a 282-mile route, has paved 214 miles and graded another 61 miles and, in fact, has a 289-mile paved highway along the general route—some of it to be reconstructed.

The other provinces, with figures showing how much of the total route in each has been paved under the trans-Canada agreement:

Newfoundland, none of 554 miles; Nova Scotia, none of 311; New Brunswick, 78 of 390; Ontario, 434 of 1,436; Manitoba, 246 of 309; British Columbia, 262 of 568.

$225,000 Damages For Loss of Eye

DETROIT (AP)—Damages of $225,000 for a man who lost an eye in an industrial accident have been awarded by a United States district court jury. The award, largest ever returned in federal court here, went to Robert Hogue, 38, who lost the sight of his right eye when a piece of flying metal struck him in an explosion at the plant where he was employed.

Pair of Freak Accidents Take Lives of Two Tots

GRAND VALLEY, Ont. (CP)—Sharon Lee Hillis, four, died Tuesday after falling across an egg basket which cut her throat. She was knocked over by a toppling bag of grain in her father's barn. Police said she was playing in a grain storage room when her father gathered eggs.

WILLISTON, PARK, N.Y. (AP)—Two-year-old Michael Hatem was teetering back and forth on his rocking horse in the family living room Tuesday. Suddenly, he fell off and landed on a curtain rod, lying curved end up on the floor. The rod pierced his eye and brain. He died a few hours later.

Sommers Case Charges Ranged From 1 to 38

VANCOUVER (CP)—The number of charges levelled against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers and other accused in the now celebrated bribery-conspiracy case have ranged all the way from one to a total of 38 since the first indictment was prepared in November last year.

Most of the new indictments boosting the number of charges have been due to defence demands for "particulars" of the counts which led the prosecution to "split up" the charges they already had laid.

Now the number of counts have been reduced to 25, including one conspiracy charge and 24 of bribery.

The latest change was forced on Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer in the 30th day of the Assize Court trial Tuesday when Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ruled that the old Criminal Code was the effective law and not the new code under which the charges were laid. The new code became effective in April, 1955, but all of the counts against the accused were alleged to have occurred before that date.

As a result the prosecutor entered a new indictment reducing the number of counts to 25 from 38. Tossed out were 13 charges involving Sommers as a minister of the government. He remains charged as "an official of the government."

Legal authorities said this was necessary since the old code makes no provision for the charging of a minister as such but under it an "official of the government" is liable for a conspiracy-bribery offence.

Originally in November last year one conspiracy count was laid. Then in January of this year this was increased to six and later was consolidated into five counts.

Then in reply to defence requests for particulars the Crown split its case into 17 charges and when still more particulars were requested split it again into 38 counts—including two of conspiracy and 36 of bribery.

All the accused have pleaded not guilty to the indictment which basically charges a split of money between Sommers, H. W. Bray and Schultz in connection with issuance of government timber licences.

... CRACKS UP ON GROUND WHEN LIMOUSINE HITS TAXI

LONDON (UPI)—The Duke of Edinburgh's automobile collided with a taxi today as he was on his way from Buckingham Palace to attend a meeting of the Automobile Association, of which he is honorary president.

Nobody was injured. The chauffeur-driven royal limousine and the taxi collided seconds after the duke, accompanied by a palace official and a detective, left the palace. Both vehicles were slightly damaged.

People and Things

LONDON—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's duck family has walked out on him.

Macmillan became a duck raiser accidentally at his official residence, No. 10 Downing Street, when a pair of mallards settled there two months ago.

In time there were 12 eggs and then 12 ducklings. Then father duck and one of the ducklings disappeared.

Tuesday the mother rounded up her 11 charges and set out through the traffic for a pond in St. James Park about 100 yards away from No. 10. Police stopped the traffic and with servants from the Macmillan residence following, the ducks waddled to the pond, plopped in and swam away in single file.

TAVARES, Fla. (UPI)—Officers said when they raided the home of Nathaniel Lee, the bootlegging suspect, rushed to a knothole in the floor and poured out the contents of a jug.

But Deputy James L. Yates had been warned of Lee's tactics. Instead of joining the raiders, he had sneaked under the house.

So now Lee is charged with possession of illicit whisky—and officers have evidence collected by Yates, who held a washbasin under the knothole.

LINDSAY, Ont.—The Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night reasserted its intention to hold bloodless fights at this town, 20 miles west of Peterborough, Aug. 2 and 4.

'Inequities' In Indemnities CCFer Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF MP Frank Howard, whose Skeena constituency embraces about one-third of the land area of British Columbia, says Commons members from far-flung rural areas should get higher parliamentary indemnities.

He said Tuesday in the House budget debate that there are "inequities" in the present structure of parliamentary indemnities when urban MPs receive the same amount as rural MPs—an $8,000-a-year indemnity plus a $2,000-a-year free expense allowance.

Mr. Howard said members from large rural constituencies such as his own have to spend a great deal of money to get around to the various communities.

The combined area of the Maritime Provinces could be placed twice over in his northern B.C. constituency and still not cover it.

He proposed adjustments in the indemnity based on the size of constituencies. He suggested no formula, but asked that Finance Minister Fleming examine the question.

He also levelled a charge of "insincerity" against Mr. Fleming because the 1958-59 budget contained no income tax cuts.

Australia is shipping 2,000 head of dairy cattle to Japan in the 12 months ending March 31, 1959.

TO ALL LUMBER WORKERS VOTE FOR STRIKE ACTION

Your Union's District Policy Committee recommends that you vote to authorize strike action on the government-supervised strike vote

FRIDAY, JUNE 27

BECAUSE: Your authorization of strike action is now the only means at your disposal to get fair consideration of a decent contract settlement.

Your authorization of strike action will not be given effect until deemed advisable by the District Policy Committee.

Your authorization of strike action confirms your decisive rejection of the majority report of the Conciliation Board which recommended a year's wage freeze, while living costs are rising. It also recommended contract changes which will take away existing contract benefits.

- REMEMBER:
- ➔ Wage settlements for other unions in the province have raised their wage rates as high as 15%.
 - ➔ The Pulp and Sulphite Workers, in the same industry, with the same employers, have a base rate of $1.89 an hour, while it is proposed that the IWA base rate remain at $1.72 an hour. Vancouver street-sweepers get $1.84 an hour.
 - ➔ The rise in living costs has practically wiped out last year's wage increase. A continued rise in living costs is expected rather than any decline.
 - ➔ Productivity per man-day throughout the industry is higher. Fewer workers are producing more. Labour costs per unit of production are less than before the last wage increase.

THE EMPLOYERS ARE ABLE TO PAY A WAGE INCREASE

The employers have made enormous profits in the past, derived from the natural resources of the province. They are continuing to make substantial profits. The market prospects promise them the restoration of their high level profits of past years. Under these circumstances they have the moral obligation to pay the wage increase that will keep their employees abreast of living costs, and reward them for increased productivity.

Market demands are expanding. The pronounced demand shown in the first four months of this year is now showing a further expansion. Home-building programs in the United States and Canada have been launched on a scale that ensures a boom for B.C. lumber. At competitive prices, the sale of B.C. lumber in all export markets is showing a decided upward trend while production and shipping costs have been lowered.

THREE PULLS ON FLUSH CHAIN FOR YOUNGSTERS' 'BRAIN-WASH'

HOVE, Eng. (Reuters)—A new version of "brain-washing" was reported in juvenile court today. Two boys, aged 10 and 11, were charged with forcing the head of a six-year-old boy into a toilet and pulling the flush chain three times.

Their lawyer said this was the boys' version of "brain-washing"—normally a psychological method used to get confessions—which they had read about in a book.

The youngsters were sent to a juvenile care home for mental examinations.

Trio Charged In Burglary Of City Shop

Three young men charged with a $4,400 safe breaking at Spencer's Stores Ltd., 1420 Douglas, June 15, were remanded in city police court today to July 29 to fix a date for trial.

An application by George Gregory on behalf of one accused for release on his own recognizance or for reduced bail, was rejected by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Bail remains at $2,500 each for Vancouver men David Hargreaves and Kenneth L. Walden, and Victorian Thomas A. McNaughton, 903 Collinson.

The men were arrested on a tip prior to discovery of the burglary.

Delay in bringing the men to trial was explained by the prosecution as an inability to procure certain evidence before next month.

Speaking on behalf of Walden, Mr. Gregory said:

"I think it would be a most unfortunate thing if this man is kept in custody for any length of time. He is recently arrived from Great Britain, his family is there and he is unable to raise bail. He has no criminal record."

Lawyer Alan Bigelow appeared for Hargreaves, and McNaughton, who is free on bail, was not represented.

Ship's Officer In 'Fair' Shape After Big Fall

Third mate of the Panamanian-registered vessel Panaghi, who fell 30 feet down a cargo hatch as the ship neared William Head Tuesday noon, was reported in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Theodoros Charafomopoulos, 23, suffered a fractured arm, face and back injuries when he backed over a low rail, between decks and fell the remaining distance to the bottom of the hold of his ship.

BRIBERY TRIAL SETS COURT RECORD

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sommers trial, in its 31st day today, has eclipsed by eight days the modern assize court record of 23 days for a jury trial reported in a gas combines case two years ago.

Main dates in the Sommers case are as follows:

Dec. 16, 1955.—Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy appeared before Chief Justice Sloan in Vancouver and made certain allegations against Robert Sommers, then minister of lands and forests.

Dec. 19, 1955.—Robert Sommers entered a suit for libel and slander against Sturdy.

Feb. 17, 1956.—Sommers resigned cabinet post.

Oct. 28, 1957.—Slander suit dismissed 22 months after it started when Sommers failed to appear to press case after court had so ordered him.

Nov. 21, 1957.—Sommers and other defendants arrested on Criminal Code charges of bribery and conspiracy, covering events in 1953 and 1954.

Credit Union Assets Jumped $2.4 Million

Assets of the B.C. Central Credit Union rose from $558,904 in 1956 to $8,298,591 in 1957, it was announced at the 14th annual meeting held at Holyrood House today.

The central union is made of 310 credit unions and 14 co-operative organizations throughout the province.

During 1957 it approved 394 applications for loans totalling $13,500,000.

W. J. Dew, president of the central union, announced that, in order to keep pace with expanding business, a Victoria branch office will be opened at 745 View Street on July 2.

Miss Constance McFerran of Vancouver will be Victoria branch manager.

DIVIDEND RULED

Mr. Dew said the directors had recommended a 4 per cent dividend to be paid on 8 share month basis on all shares in the Central Union paid up at Dec. 31 last.

The recommendation is being debated by union delegates this afternoon.

The directors' report, presented by Mr. Dew, stated that growth of business in the B.C. Central Credit Union in 1957 had exceeded the record of all previous years.

The anticipated level of capital expenditures in Canada for 1958 was $8,520,000,000 — only $200,000,000 below the 1957 all-time peak.

In B.C. the anticipated drop from 1957 was $326,000,000 — greater percentage-wise than in any other province.

EASIER POLICY

The report recommended that, as long as the business outlook is not encouraging, an easier money policy should be adopted to provide cheaper money and lower interest rates.

This would encourage make-work projects by provincial and municipal governments, including projects which have been delayed because of high interest costs.

B.C. Health Minister Eric Martin addressed the 12th annual meeting of the Credit Union and Co-operative Health Services Society Tuesday afternoon.

He told how public health services save the province millions of dollars in the prevention of disease. As an example, he said the use of diphtheria toxoid had saved B.C. more than $10,000,000 in 1964.

"Salk vaccine has also saved us millions in the prevention of polio," he added.

Hungary Expelled

GENEVA (Reuters)—The 79-nation conference of the International Labor Organization today expelled the Hungarian delegation from the conference.

The action came in a vote on objections that had been raised to the delegation's credentials.

The department operates the trailer at present at the junction of highways 3 and 6, west of the border port of Kingsgate.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E. C. Westwood said tourist influx indicates a record year for visitors to the province.

Life memberships were presented to Mrs. Margery Barker and Mrs. Dorothy Whyte at the annual meeting of Victoria Theatre Guild held recently at Langham Court Theatre.

Honor was conferred on the property and wardrobe mistresses for long and faithful service to the Theatre Guild in these capacities.

P. E. George was elected president and Neil Magrath, vice-president. Other officers are Miss Sybil I. MacLean, secretary; Mrs. Madeline Johnson, treasurer; Miss Connie Thompson, production; Mrs. M. C. Trueman, publicity; Don Jacobs, membership; Mrs. D. House, dramatic school; A. Jeeves, maintenance; T. Walton, constitution; and Peter Howell and Mrs. C. E. Morris, members-at-large.

B.C. Forest Products' All have pleaded not guilty.

Legal argument on the new amended Crown indictment will revolve around the limitation section in the old Criminal Code.

This is a proviso that no one can be penalized for an act of bribery which is more than two years old. It is expected that Prosecutor Dryer will argue this provision is not effective in this case. The remaining conspiracy count would in any case still be punishable on conviction under the old code.

Transfer of the charges to the old code could mean lesser penalties for the accused should they be convicted. The previous indictment under the new code carried a maximum penalty of five years on each of the 38 charges, but the maximums under the old code are one year and $1,000 fine on each bribery count and five or seven years for conspiracy—depending on the legal interpretation of the code.

Mr. Justice Wilson first brought up the question of the "wrong code" Monday. Tuesday he told Prosecutor Dryer he did not see how the Crown could escape transferring the charges to the old code because the accused must be tried under the law as it existed at the time the alleged acts were committed.

He regretted that the point had not been noticed by him sooner, but said counsel must also share that responsibility. And he wanted the public and the jury to know that he was not being "an advocate for the Crown or the defence" in bringing it up, that in fact it was his duty to see that the case was "tried according to the law."

Mr. Bull said he now took the same view as his lordship and added that "I think all of the charges should go."

The Crown Tuesday completed its evidence but Prosecutor Dryer said he would withhold closing his case until argument is completed on the amended indictment.

In 30 days of sitting—there were numerous adjournments—the court has heard more than 40 Crown witnesses and seen the introduction of more than 700 Crown documents.

Earlier Tuesday Mr. Justice Wilson ruled out the appearance of Crown witness Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of lands and forests who served under Sommers until the latter resigned two years ago. But he warned the defence he would permit the Crown to call him if the defence in its argument should get into the field of policy matters.

The Crown wound up its evidence with three Toronto witnesses, James R. Wright and John Mogg, officials of the Toronto firm of Taylor and Mc-

Dougald, and Kenneth Clark, former reservations manager of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. Wright and Mogg testified about moneys paid through a Toronto firm for travel tickets and hotel accommodation in November, 1953, and Clark testified about certain hotel reservations made at the Royal York at the same time.
